SEES DANGER IN IMPERIAL COUNCIL

WOULD STRIKE BLOW AT BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Liberal Writer Says Dominion Might Outvote Cabinet On Foreign Policy

London, July 31.—Harold Spender, writing an editorial in the Daily News (Liberal) on the subject of cabinet control of foreign affairs in conjunction with the overseas dominions, points out how peace or war is now practically in the hands of the cabinet, although it is even possible that war might be declared by the premier alone. Therefore if the overseas dominions are given a statutory voice in this final decision they would actually possess more power than the House of Commons or the cabinet. The article proceeds to speak of the remarkable change in the attitude of the present British government.

"If Canada is to have a voice it is clear the other dominions must also," Mr. Spender goes on. "Any imperial council so formed will have to be consulted on all important questions of foreign policy, and if there is to be any reality in the plan the British cabinet will have to accept their advice. In that way the supremacy of the cabinet will be quietly but certainly impaired and so far as the British cabinet is impaired, to that extent a blow will be struck at the British Parliament, from which the cabinet is drawn. This fundamental change in government might make for peace or war. It is to be feared it would make for war. Restraints on war arise chiefly from fear of the consequences of war, but as the dominions are far removed from the probable centre of any European war, they would be far less liable to these restraints. It is perfectly natural that the home country should rejoice at the willingness of the dominions to help her both in defence and offence. But it was the dream of the earlier school that the British Empire should be a league of peace. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that great man who guided the fortunes of Canada for nearly a generation, always had that end in view. He always has striven to save his country from the vortex of militarism. Sir Wilfrid has been defeated, and for the moment Canada has turned her back on his councils, but will the present mode always last?"

Proposed Visit of Ministers.

It is now understood that Right Hon. Mr. Asquith and Right Hon. Winston Churchill will visit the Dominion after Premier Borden's return, says the

CATTLE PRICES MAY GO HIGHER

Decline in Industry Due to the Ranchers Sub-Dividing Their Property

Vancouver, July 31.—"Cattle exports from the prairie provinces have almost ceased, despite the fact that prices have advanced over fifty per cent. during the past four or five years and are likely to go higher. The reason is that the big cattlemen have been selling their herds and subdividing their large ranches owing to the rapid influx of settlers. I think they were a little premature," said P. Burns, of Calgary. Mr. Burns is on his way home from a visit to his family at Ocean Park, Cal.

"I see that the steady decline of the cattle industry is creating alarm and that measures to revive it were discussed at a meeting held in Winnipeg yesterday. Well, I don't see much prospect of relief for the next four or five years and it will take at least that length of time to get the ranges stocked again. I have been constantly urging the farmers to engage in stock-raising, but my advice was not taken seriously. I don't know of a more profitable business that any man can engage in. The day of big ranches is past, never to return, but there is no reason why each farmer should not keep a herd, varying according to the size of his farm. If this were done the cattle industry would regain its former importance.

"People who complain about the cost of meat do not seem to stop to consider the causes at work. It is simply a question of demand and supply. Our firm last spring paid seven cents a pound for steers on the hoof on the ranges and lately the price has declined about one cent per pound."

SEAL FISHERIES BILL.

Measure Passes Second Reading in the House of Commons.

London, July 31.—The House of Commons last night passed the second reading of the seal fisheries bill, giving effect to the convention between Great Britain, the United States, Russia and Japan to prevent the extermination of the seals in the North Pacific.

NEW EMPEROR'S MESSAGE TO NATION

JAPANESE RULER READS PROCLAMATION

Funeral of Late Emperor Will Take Place About First of September

Tokio, July 31.—The era of Taisei, "Great Righteousness," has begun. The era of Meiji, "Intelligent Administration," closed with the accession of Yoshihito.

The Emperor of the new era read his first proclamation this morning before an immense gathering of officials and representatives of all branches of the service.

The Emperor said: "The death of the former Emperor has caused great sorrow to the nation, but the throne cannot be left empty and the state administration cannot be neglected, even for a day. We, therefore, immediately ascended the throne and will administer the affairs of the country under the protection of our imperial ancestors and under the provisions of the constitution.

"In this administration we hope not to be misled. We shall endeavor to sustain and further the great work done and undertaken by the former Emperor.

"You, our subjects, do your best for our country as you did for the Emperor and be loyal to us."

The proclamation of the new Emperor pays a lengthy tribute to Mutsuhito, the dead ruler.

Marquis Saionji, the Japanese premier, replied to the Emperor's proclamation, commencing his speech with the words: "I most respectfully reply to Your Imperial Majesty."

After a laudatory tribute to the late Emperor, Premier Saionji pledged his unremitting loyalty to the new sovereign.

The death of the Emperor Mutsuhito, while causing widespread grief, has had small effect on normal conditions here. There has been a remarkable absence of demonstrations, and aside from the closed banks and commercial houses the crepe-bound flags at every entrance and signs of mourning by foreigners and natives alike, the nation moved along on its accustomed business.

A special chamber in the palace has been arranged for the reception of the coffin containing the body of the dead Emperor. The coffin reposes on a raised dais, covered with a white cloth in the centre of this simply-furnished apartment. It was surrounded throughout the day by the members of the royal family. The Emperor and Empress, the Dowager Empress and the imperial princes and princesses formed sole guard and kept vigil, which will be maintained throughout the lying-in-state prior to the funeral. This is expected to take place about September 1, but exact date has not yet been determined.

A salute of 20 guns for the new Emperor was fired to-day, and to-morrow 60 guns, enumerating the age of the dead Emperor, will be discharged.

Mourning in Hawaii.

Honolulu, July 31.—All Japanese in the Hawaiian Island will observe a day of mourning on the occasion of the funeral of the late Emperor Mutsuhito, it was announced to-day. Meanwhile from the fashionable Japanese home down to the thatched cottage of the fisherman and plantation laborers, the red and white peace flag of Japan is flying at half-mast from draped bamboo poles.

WILLING TO ENTER PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Turkey's Rights Must Be Safeguarded—Confidence in New Ministry

Constantinople, July 31.—The Turkish government is willing to enter into peace negotiations with Italy if they are conducted in a manner compatible with Turkey's honor and dignity, and her rights are adequately safeguarded. This was announced in the Chamber of Deputies here yesterday during the reading of the new ministerial proclamation.

The new Turkish ministry received a vote of confidence after it was announced that the government was willing to enter into peace negotiations with Italy. The government was sustained by a vote of 113 to 45, after the grand vizier had declared that the government would resign unless parliament gave its sanction to the programme.

FATAL RIOTS AT LONDON DOCKS

ONE MAN KILLED OVER SCORE INJURED

Fights Follow Attempt of Union Laborers to Eject Non-Unionists

London, July 31.—Seven strikers were shot, one of them dying later in a hospital, and twenty others seriously wounded to-day by sticks or stones as a result of rioting at Victoria and other docks in London.

The chief encounter occurred at the Victoria docks, where 2,000 of the laborers, who had been on strike for more than ten weeks, appeared at the docks in compliance with the manifesto of the dockers federation, ordering them to resume work. They found their former places occupied by non-unionists, taken on during the strike, who defied the union men to eject them. A severe fight ensued. Bullets, bricks and stones flew in all directions.

The police, of whom only about a dozen were present, were taken by surprise, and were powerless to suppress the disturbance.

Another hot fight centred around the steamer City of Columbia, which was being loaded at one of the wharves. Unionist workers tried to board her, but were repelled by the non-unionists with revolvers, bottles and belaying pins. Many men were injured here, some of them with bullets. Reserves of police were called up, and finally succeeded in quelling the disturbance.

DEATH ENDS JOY RIDE.

Woman Killed When Automobile Collides With Waggon.

Portland, Ore., July 31.—Grace C. Dow, a telephone operator, lies dead at the morgue from a broken neck, the result of a joy ride with a party of friends early this morning. The automobile party had visited various resorts and was returning to the city at a fast clip when their automobile crashed into a Chinese vegetable waggon. Miss Dow was thrown from the machine and killed. Two other members of the party were slightly injured.

MISSION A FAILURE.

London, July 31.—The Pekin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says it is reported in official circles there that Prince Katsura's mission in St. Petersburg has been a failure.

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY BILL.

Washington, D. C., July 31.—The House yesterday refused by a vote of 127 to 107 to agree to the senate's amendment to the excise tax bill providing for the repeal of the Canadian reciprocity bill.

GIRLS ON STRIKE.

Quit Work as Protest Against Profanity By Male Employees of Factory.

New York, July 31.—Four hundred girls, members of the dressmakers' union employed at a Brooklyn factory, are on strike to-day against the use of profanity by the foreman and other male employees of the shop. The strikers hope to bring about a series of walkouts in other factories to enforce the demand for a rule that foremen and others be instructed that no profanity or abusive language shall be used in the workrooms at any time.

INVESTIGATING WOMAN'S DEATH

Employer, His Wife and Nephew Are Under Arrest at Detroit

Detroit, Mich., July 31.—The prosecuting attorney to-day continued his inquiry into the death early in July of Miss Elizabeth Fleming, which led to the arrests yesterday of Anetta Halliday Antona, author, teacher and clubwoman; her husband, Alexander Antona and their nephew Anglo Villa. Miss Fleming was an aged servant employed in the Antona home, who willed her property valued at about $1,800 to Mr. Antona. The death certificate was signed by Dr. E. P. Mills, and gave intestinal trouble as the cause of her death. The prosecutor said to-day that he is positive that there was no foul play.

Antona declared that the body was cremated immediately after death at the written request of Miss Fleming.

TROOPS ARE BEING SENT TO BELFAST

FEELING RUNS HIGH AMONG WORKMEN

Home Rule May Cause Clash Between Catholics and Orangemen

London, July 31.—As a result of the trouble between the Catholic and Protestant workmen in the shipbuilding yards at Belfast, the chief secretary for Ireland, A. Birrell, in reply to a question in the Commons, stated yesterday that troops were being rushed to that city to protect labor and preserve order.

This announcement was made as an answer to J. Devlin, member of the House of Commons who, in an urgent appeal to the government, stated that the whole situation at Belfast was due to the Home Rule measure, causing violence and appealing to the worst form of passion and bigotry. He had sent £250 to the relief of the dismissed Nationalists in Belfast, and wanted to know what measures the government intended taking for the protection and freedom of labor in the Irish city.

To this appeal the chief secretary replied that two battalions of troops were already in Belfast and that a third was being sent as a precautionary measure in case of dispute between the two factions.

The trouble has arisen owing to the action of Harlan & Wolfe, shipbuilders at Belfast, who dismissed many of their men and threaten to close down their works entirely owing to the trouble and inconvenience that has been caused by the discussions between the Roman Catholic and Protestant workmen on the merits of Home Rule for Ireland. Three thousand workmen are now idle in the Irish city and the Daily News correspondent at Belfast says that one large firm has dismissed all the Roman Catholics employed by them, numbering thirty, simply to retaliate for the dismissal of the Orangemen by Harlan & Wolfe.

CARDINAL FISCHER DEAD.

Bonn, Rheinish Prussia, July 31.—Cardinal Anthony Hubert Fischer, archbishop of Cologne, died yesterday after a long illness. He was born in 1840 and was created cardinal in 1903.

EQUIPMENT OF SEA-GOING SHIPS

RECOMMENDATIONS OF BRITISH COMMISSION

New Regulations Have Been Framed by the British Board of Trade

London, July 31.—The recommendations of the Board of Trade commission which investigated the loss of the Titanic, include the following:

The Board of Trade should investigate the practicability of providing seagoing ships, in addition to their watertight, transverse bulkheads, with a double skin carried above the waterline, or with a longitude vertical watertight bulkhead on each side of the vessel, or with both.

The court recommends that the British Board of Trade be empowered to direct changes in the equipment of ships.

That the lifeboat and raft accommodations on seagoing ships be based on the number of persons carried and the tonnage of the ship.

The court recommends that the lifeboats be provided with signalling apparatus, with a compass and provisions and that the number of persons each boat is intended to carry should be plainly marked.

Minister's Statement.

Sydney Buxton, president of the board of trade, announced in the House of Commons to-day that the board had framed new rules governing life-saving precautions on merchant vessels, based on the recommendation of the committee which had considered the Titanic disaster.

The new rules, said Mr. Buxton, must be approved by the House of Commons before their adoption. The rules, he continued, would be announced during the parliamentary recess, and would come up before the House of Commons early next session.

Several newspapers here assert that the board of trade is entirely in the hands of the shipping interests and cannot be expected to act impartially.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK.

Pueblo, Colo., July 31.—Engineer G. W. Swearengen, of Pueblo, and J. M. Duncan, a porter, were killed and several passengers injured last night when Rock Island passenger train No. 6, known as the Chicago express, went into the ditch near Pueblo. Heavy rains weakened the roadbed, and caused the wreck. The locomotive and all of the cars, save the Pullman, plunged into the Fountain river.

VANCOUVER CADETS ARRIVE IN AUCKLAND

Spend Several Hours In City—Will Return After Touring Australia

Auckland, N. Z., July 31.—Arriving on the Zealandia yesterday, the touring Canadian cadets created quite a sensation by marching through the main streets in service uniform to the military parade grounds. There the lads—who looked the picture of health and happiness—went through a "stretching" drill after their three-weeks' ocean travelling.

A couple of hours was spent in exercises at the grounds, and although the drill was not public, the exhibition of military precision and smartness impressed the few people who had the pleasure of witnessing the manoeuvres.

Letters waiting the party at this port from their advance officer in Sydney, Australia, were eagerly read by the boys, who learned, for the first time, of the grand reception that is to be given them in New South Wales.

Owing to the fact that the cadet corps will visit this city on the return journey, their visit here was most formal, the spare moments being taken up by strolling around the city.

Corpl. W. E. McTaggart, writing to the Times under date of July 15, says:

The Canadian cadets, who will arrive in Sydney on August 3, are enjoying the cool breezes of the Pacific to the limit. All but three suffered from sea sickness the first day out, but are now all fit to eat anything that is put before them. Their time is well taken up, as they are under the same discipline that makes a soldier in any training station. They have to make their own beds and tidy their staterooms, and keep their clothing in a shape that would stand inspection at any moment.

The various squads who take part in the concert programme practise every day, and the band, together with the orchestra, keep the time from getting monotonous for the other passengers.

The lads have arranged for boxing, wrestling and whist tournaments, and these will help to pass the time, although when 66 Canadian boys get together their is always "something doing."

ALLEGED MURDERER.

Moose Jaw, July 31.—Detective John O'Grady, of the Vancouver detective force, arrived in the city last night from St. Paul, where he went from Vancouver July 24, to bring Greste de Marie, an Italian charged with the murder of a compatriot, Luigi Vulpiner, on April 1. The alleged murderer was arrested at St. Paul and handed over on Sunday.

MURDERER SHOT BY VICTIM'S SON

Prisoner Confesses Crime—Exonerates Two Others Under Arrest

Redding, Cal., July 31.—Wm. Clement, arraigned here for the murder of Wm. C. Landis, who killed Clement's mother, Mrs. W. C. Bradford, completely exonerated the two other men accused with him, in his confession, the full text of which was made public yesterday for the first time by District Attorney Chenowith, when the three were brought before Justice of Peace Donnelly, of Kennett, for a preliminary hearing. Dan Thompson and Marcus A. Griffith are the other men accused.

Landis, who was a merchant of Buckeye, a small mining town near Redding, shot and killed Mrs. Bradford, May 31, after an altercation growing out of a disagreement over business matters. The merchant was shot from ambush on July 18, while driving from Redding to Buckeye, Clement subsequently confessing to having committed the crime. His statement is in part as follows:

"I want to say that I am the man who did this job. I shot W. G. Landis and nobody else who was arrested was implicated in any way whatever. Dan Thompson and Marcus A. Griffith had nothing to do with it whatever. I am the man who is responsible for the whole thing. I don't really feel ashamed of it. I know how my mother was murdered and I killed the man, and that is all there is to it. I am guilty and am willing to acknowledge it. I don't want to see an innocent man punished for anything I have done. Neither Griffith nor Thompson knew what I was going to do prior to my doing it."

District Attorney Chenowith said he had gathered much important evidence intended to discredit the statement that one man alone was concerned in the crime, and he expected the other two men to be held.

PERU ATROCITIES.

President Leguia Declares Guilty Will Be Punished.

Lima, Peru, July 31.—In his message to congress President Leguia, after calling attention to the good relations which Peru has maintained with other countries, referred to the fact that the British government was much concerned in the atrocities which have been committed in the Putumayor district in connection with the rubber industry. He added that the Peruvian government had sent special commissions to investigate the crimes, punish the offenders and prepare a general plan for reforms. The expenditures of the government during the year exceeded the receipts by $3,900,000.

PROVINCES AND MARRIAGE LAWS

Mr. Justice Idington's Views on Decision of The Privy Council

Ottawa, July 31.—"A very serious matter," was the comment of the Hon. Mr. Justice Idington, one of the Supreme Court judges, who ruled on the marriage reference in the now famous Ne Temere case, when it was referred to that body. "It throws the whole thing into the hands of the local legislatures. The judgment evidently upholds the view of the majority of the members of the Supreme Court that power in this matter rests with the provincial legislatures. My own judgment, you will remember, took the other view, that where the local legislature failed to provide the means of marriage of any persons, the Dominion government had power."

"What effect will it have on the marriage question in Quebec?" Justice Idington was asked.

"It leaves the whole thing to that province, where it will depend entirely on the interpretation that the Quebec legislature may take," he replied.

Montreal Views.

Montreal, July 31.—La Presse, discussing the Privy Council judgment in the marriage case says in part: "If our fellow citizens of the other provinces who are responsible for the agitation which has been raised about this question will listen to the voice of reason, they will accept the decision of the Privy Council, which is the final word on the subject. Otherwise the province of Quebec would be justified in not maintaining the same equable attitude towards these attempts against her rights."

Speaking of any campaign directed towards the infringement of rights or prerogatives of any province, the paper says: "We are approaching a crucial period in the national life of the Dominion. The first condition requisite to ensure harmonious co-operation between every one of the composing parts of the Empire is to establish harmony and a good understanding between all the integral parts of the Empire."

Favors Amendment.

Toronto, July 31.—Sir James Whitney was asked if he had any statement to make regarding the decision of the Privy Council in the Lancaster bill. The prime minister declined to discuss the issue until he has had an opportunity of reading the text of the judgment.

Rev. E. B. Silcox, president of the Evangelist Alliance, said the decision was quite unsatisfactory to the Alliance and they will now try to arouse interest and secure an amendment to the British North America Act. They contended there should be one marriage law.

The Roman Catholic clergy who were interviewed declared the judgment was as they expected it would be.

FARMERS HAVE REAL GRIEVANCE

Toronto Banker Declares High Freight Rates Cause Unrest

Vancouver, July 31.—The western farmer has found a strong champion in G. T. Somers, president of the Toronto board of trade, who is studying conditions at first hand on a tour of the prairie provinces. Mr. Somers met and talked with hundreds of people. He is convinced that the farmer is suffering from a real hardship and injustice on account of existing railway freight rates. He sees in a solution of that problem the key to the settlement of the unrest in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Mr. Somers is one of Toronto's big, broad-minded men of affairs. He is president of the Sterling Bank of Canada, president of the Canada Grain Company, a large exporting concern, president of the Crown Life Insurance Company, and is identified with other leading industrial corporations. He was one of the 18 prominent Toronto Liberals who signed the manifesto addressed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier declaring their unalterable opposition to the Taft-Fielding reciprocity agreement. They opposed their own party in the subsequent election campaign.

"Reciprocity with the United States is a dead issue outside of Alberta and Saskatchewan, where considerable unrest prevails. I think that a solution of the problem lies in the equalization of local freight rates in the west. The western farmer has a real grievance. The freight rate on wheat in Ontario is six cents per 100 pounds as compared with 12 cents on the prairies. This discrepancy is excessive and should be abolished," said Mr. Somers to a representative of the Times.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Mount Vernon, Wash., July 31.—Crushed beneath an overturning automobile, Clifford Garl, 28 years old, an employee in a local garage, was instantly killed yesterday. Garl, in company with John N. Shanahan, John Bowen, and L. Eckel, was returning from Stanwood, 15 miles from here. When about 20 miles south of this city and while travelling about 40 miles an hour, the car left the road. To get back it was necessary to go up an embankment about two feet in height. When the car struck the rise the tremendous speed at which it was going caused it to turn completely over, throwing the occupants to the ground. Eckel was slightly bruised. The others escaped without injury.

MURDER OF GAMBLER STIRS NEW YORK

Board of Aldermen Will Begin Inquiry Into Police Department

New York, July 31.—While Charles A. Becker, for nearly twenty years a member of the New York police department, and latterly commanding the "strong-arm" squad, paced his cell in the Tombs yesterday, protesting his innocence of murder, nearly all the officials, from mayor down, went forward with the investigation into the death of Herman Rosenthal, whose murder Becker is alleged to have instigated to frustrate threatened revelations of an alliance between Becker and gamblers of the tenderloin.

In different cells, fearful of the lieutenant's vengeance, and begging for protection, are Jacob (Jack) Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallons, who confessed Monday. They set the stage at Becker's bidding, and hired the assassins who put Rosenthal to death in front of the Hotel Metropole.

Police Commissioner Waldo conferred yesterday with the mayor, who announced later he would call a special meeting of the board of aldermen to begin an inquiry of the police department. Commissioner Waldo had no statement to make except to assert his innocence. Lieut. Becker has made no comment on his arrest. His wife and counsel visited him in his cell today. If the authorities hope to wring any confession from Becker, and thus to implicate any men, "higher up" they have not so indicated in any way.

MONTREAL UNABLE TO HANDLE GRAIN

Lack of Facilities May Result in Loss of Trade

MONTREAL, July 31.—"It is freely stated among grain men that Montreal will eventually share the fate of Chicago, which up to seven years ago held all the Great Lakes' coal trade, but, being unable to handle it, Milwaukee took it practically all away and has kept it," says The Star. "So they believe that Montreal will eventually lose her grain trade, unless measures are adopted at once.

"Montreal harbor grain facilities are at present so improperly equipped as to be utterly unable to handle her grain traffic at present, coming this way from the northwest. So bad have these conditions become that one line of steamers have been taken off the Great Lakes and Montreal trade since July 2. This was done only after boats of their fleet had lost a total of 27 days waiting to unload their cargoes of grain here in port, at a loss of $135 a day, a total of $3,645.

"Fort William now has nine grain elevators, and is to build three more this year. A reduction of half a cent in the freight rate to Buffalo, and the result will be that Montreal will lose her prestige as a grain port, and the huge Canadian grain crop will be handled through the United States grain ports.

"There is practically no visible chance or hope to have the new harbor commissioners' elevators equipped in time for the fall grain crop, and although the grain naturally moves faster near the close of navigation than at present, despite the fact that the present rates are lower, the congestion, it is believed, will be enormous."

CATTLE THIEF CAPTURED.

Taken After Chase Covering Over 1,500 Miles.—Prisoner Has Confessed.

Calgary, Alta., July 31.—Pursued for months through the wilds of northern Canada by members of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, Wm. Ropp, perhaps the most noted horse-rustler and cattle thief in the western country, has been apprehended and is in the local barracks awaiting the disposition of his case. Hundreds of charges have been preferred against him and there is in prospect for him a long term in prison. The chase covered more than 1,500 miles. Ropp, tired of being hunted, has confessed. The crimes he admits having committed are a revelation to the officers themselves. In detail he told of several hundred and made the statement that he had probably committed as many more of which he had forgotten.

DROWNED IN LAKE.

Whitewood, Sask., July 31.—A young man named Duncan, one of a party of campers from Broadview, was drowned Sunday afternoon in Round Lake, sixteen miles from here. Duncan was out on the lake with friends when he jumped from the boat, thinking he could wade to shore, but the water was too deep and he sank before assistance could be given him. The body was recovered two hours later.

TOURIST TRAFFIC ON C. P. R. GROWS

This Season's Travel Has Already Established A New High Record

Vancouver, July 31.—Hayter Reed, manager of C. P. R. hotels, and John O. Dowd, private secretary, Montreal, are at the Hotel Vancouver. Mr. Reed, who is on one of his official trips of inspection, is enthusiastic about the volume of tourist travel this year. Not only does each year show a large cumulative increase, but this season has already established a new high record, probably 30 or 40 per cent. in excess of the figures for the corresponding period of last year.

Despite the additions made to the company's hotels in the Rockies and Selkirks, the accommodation is taxed to the limit. It is not an uncommon experience to serve 625 guests at one meal at Banff. Mr. Reed looked over the improvements now in progress at the Hotel Vancouver, and will visit Victoria before returning east.

CLARENCE DARROW IN WITNESS BOX

Denies He Gave Money to Franklin To Be Used In Bribing Jury

Los Angeles, Cal., July 31.—Refutation of one of the most damaging accusations of Bert H. Franklin, that Clarence S. Darrow had first talked with him about bribing jurors on October 5, 1911, and had given him a cheque for that purpose on the following day, was furnished by the defendant when he resumed the stand yesterday in his trial for alleged jury-bribery. It was in the form of a cancelled cheque dated October 4, 1911, the day before the alleged incriminating conversation, and two days before the date Franklin testified to receiving the cheque. The cheque introduced into evidence bore the endorsement of Franklin.

After twice delaying the trial because of illness, L. A. Leavitt was relieved of further duty as a juror Monday and the alternate juror, A. M. Blakeley, substituted for him. According to the attorney in the case, it is the first instance in the history of American jurisprudence of the substitution of a thirteenth juror for a regular one who had been incapacitated for service.

In the brief time he was on the stand Monday Darrow refuted testimony by George Behm and Bert Franklin which had been considered as very damaging to his case. The long anticipated appearance of the noted lawyer-defendant in the role of witness came after a second futile attempt by the defence to get possession of the grand jury testimony of O. A. Tveitmoe, the San Francisco labor leader, and a successful effort to secure certain documentary evidence now held by the district attorney.

Mr. Darrow yesterday continued his assault on the testimony of Franklin, flatly denying that he had ever conversed with the detective concerning the corruption of Juror Robert F. Bain. Franklin had testified to lengthy conversations with Darrow. The cheque given Franklin, according to Darrow, was for services and expenses of the detective and had been required for these purposes by Franklin.

The cheque for $10,000 which Darrow gave O. A. Tveitmoe, and which the latter cashed in San Francisco, was not used for any corrupt purpose, but was given to Tveitmoe to defray expense of the McNamara case in that city, according to Darrow. Tveitmoe had told him, he said, upon his first visit to San Francisco, that organized labor there had expended between $2,000 and $30,000 for the McNamara defence.

"Tveitmoe asked me to reimburse them," said Darrow, "and I told him I would do what I could. Every time I went to San Francisco he asked me about it. About September 2 I was in San Francisco. I gave him a cheque for $10,000. I told him he could take it and use it for needed purposes. There was more investigating up there than there was here. Burns was very busy in San Francisco then and the labor leaders interested in the McNamara defence were under a heavy expense in caring for witnesses and other purposes. The cheque was given Tveitmoe for those purposes and no other, and it was cashed by him through Cleveland Dam, attorney for the Building Trades Council. I never saw any of the money."

Asked about the statement of John R. Harrington that he had displayed a roll of bills said to contain $10,000 and had remarked that it was to be used to "reach" jurors, Darrow made an emphatic denial of any such conversation.

After the denials came a narration by the defendant of the negotiations which culminated in the compromise plan of the McNamara brothers. These details purported to show lack of motive for the corruption of jurors. It was the helplessness of the case, he said, which prevailed upon him to agree to the Lincoln Steffens' proposition, in which he had little faith at its inception.

HUNDREDS LEAVE REBEL WAR ZONE

Women and Children Flocking To El Paso—Americans At Mercy of Bandits

El Paso, Tex., July 31.—Several hundred more women and children refugees from the rebel war zone in Northern Mexico, reached El Paso yesterday, swelling the colony now in El Paso to over 1,200 women and children. Five hundred additional Mormon refugees are en route to the border by wagon from Colonia Diaz. These Mormons are directly south of the international line at Hachita, N. M.

Very few men are with the refugees in El Paso as yet, the men preferring to remain at their homes. All firearms have been taken away from Mormons and other Americans, who were at the mercy of the attacking bandits. The refugees have been housed in lumber shacks which have been transformed into temporary dormitories. The city has put in electric lights and sewerage and the Mormon church is furnishing food to those unable to buy it.

Property Worth Millions.

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 31.—Seven to eight million dollars is the calculation placed by the presiding bishop of the Mormon church on the property the Mormon settlers will have to abandon on leaving Mexico. They possessed large tracts of the finest agricultural land in Mexico. Four thousand settlers, comprising between 700 and 800 families, is said to be a conservative estimate of the populace that will leave the country.

Troops on March.

Las Varias, Sonora, Mex., July 25.—(By courier to Douglas, Ariz.), July 31.—The Mexican federal column of General Sanjines has crossed the Sierra Madres and is now within fifty miles of Casas Grandes, the rebel capital of Sonora. The main column is now at Las Varias, while General Blanco, with 500 federals, is at Ojilos, twenty miles away. Only a small detachment of federals was left behind by General Sanjines at Colonia Oaxaca with pack trains. All the federals that could be mustered in Northern Sonora are now here, ready to march to Ojilos for mobilization and then to advance to Casas Grandes, the rebel capital. The expected reinforcements from Southern Sonora for the Sanjines command did not materialize.

The advance of the rebel column of General Antonio Rojas into Southern Sonora through Dolores made it necessary to retain these troops in the south.

The rebels, several hundred strong, with several cannon and rapid-fire guns, left Casas Grandes on Saturday for Ojilos, having heard that General Blanco was there, and it is thought a battle may have occurred.

TO INVESTIGATE COLLISION.

Capt. Lindsay Will Inquire Into Sinking of Collier By C. P. R. Liner.

Ottawa, July 31.—Captain Lindsay, according to the wreck commissioner, will go to Quebec at the instigation of the department of marine and fisheries to conduct an inquiry into the cause of the recent collision between the Empress of Britain and the Helvetia. The regular hearing will be proceeded with immediately and preliminaries dispensed with. In all probability the government may be compelled to construct a drydock in the St. Lawrence, the necessity for which has been emphasized by this collision.

Montreal, July 31.—An approximate estimate of the loss to the C. P. R. and the British and Chilean Steamship Company as a result of the collision of the Empress of Britain and the steamer Helvetia in the Gulf of St. Lawrence Saturday afternoon, by which the latter was sunk and the former had her bows badly battered, is given as nearly $750,000 by local steamship authorities.

The total loss is estimated as follows: Approximate value of the Helvetia, $250,000; value of the seven thousand tons of steam coal at $4 a ton, $28,000; cost of repairs to the Empress of Britain, $100,000; loss of receipts to C. P. R. on account of perhaps four trips being cancelled (each trip, it is estimated, would net $75,000 gross), $300,000; total $678,000. Loss to British and Chilean Steamship Company, $250,000; loss to Dominion Coal Company, $28,000.

Though the company has no agents here, it is presumed by steamship men that the Helvetia is fully insured, as was her cargo. The Empress of Britain was insured against damage only.

CANNERY WORKER DISAPPEARS.

Cordova, Alaska, July 31. — Dick Miller, 30 years old, a cannery worker, cashed a cheque for $400 on Saturday, drawing out $100. Sunday morning his hat and oars were found floating in the bay near his upturned boat. It is feared he met with foul play.

The law of Alaska is such that neither the United States commissioner nor the United States marshal can do anything to clear up the mystery unless the body is recovered or evidence has been produced to prove that a crime has been committed. The only known relative of Miller is a brother who is thought to live in Bitter Root, Mont.

TO SEARCH FOR GOLD.

Quebec, July 31.—Capt. Bernier, former commander of the government steamer Arctic, left quietly on the schooner Minnie Maude yesterday for a cruise in the Arctic Islands in search of gold mines. In answer to inquiries, Capt. Bernier declined to give any information on his destination or on the length of his trip.

He has a crew of seven men, all having served on his previous expeditions to the Arctic regions. He said to a friend that he might be two or three years absent.

URGES REFORMS AT BATHING BEACH

Vancouver Alderman Remarks On Bathers Who Frequent English Bay

Vancouver, July 31.—Alleging that young men and women clad in scanty bathing suits, lie on the sands at English Bay, Ald. Hepburn called upon the mayor at the council meeting Monday night to inquire into the moral conditions prevailing at the beach, and if necessary to institute reforms. The council passed a resolution to this effect.

"The scenes that anyone of you can witness at English Bay are not calculated to tend to the morality of the young people of this city," asserted Ald. Hepburn. "Men, as a rule, have a high regard for the respect and affection of women, but a poor precept is being taught boys who see what is going on every day at English Bay. The youth cannot have much reverence for 'female form divine' as they see it there. It is high time that this sort of business was put a stop to. People who went to have a dip in the sea must needs now pick their way through young men and women lying half-naked on the sand."

Mayor Findlay remarked that he would be glad to place the matter before the park board and ask that its members look into conditions. A resolution was passed by the council strengthening the hands of the mayor and authorizing him, if necessary, after making an inquiry, to take it upon himself to bring about the proper reforms.

Ald. McBeath suggested that there were other places in the city where the council could examine the moral state of affairs. He wanted to know why the council got so excited about English Bay when the other places were a good deal worse, and said that while English Bay would need a little supervision, others would do with a whole lot.

MINISTERS IN PARIS.

Guests of the Franco-American Commission—Canadian and French Premiers Speak.

Paris, July 31.—The visit to Paris of Right Hon. R. L. Borden and other Canadian ministers closed last night with a dinner given by the Franco-American commission in their honor. The dinner was attended by Premier Poincare and M. Gabriel Hanotaux, president of the commission.

Premier Poincare, during the course of a lengthy speech, said he was sure the Canadians felt in France the same cordial atmosphere of home which the Champlain delegation felt in Canada. M. Hanotaux urged that French capital should help the development of the Dominion.

"As the years go by and friction is removed between France and Britain, the affection of France for her sons in Canada is expressed more strongly," said the French premier, in a stirring speech. He looked forward to the future with confidence because esteem and respect would prevent any possible friction. As between France and Canada he could see nothing to menace the friendship.

M. Hanotaux said the entente cordiale rested on sentiment, esteem and friendship. Their common aspirations brought about the extraordinary development of Canada since the conquest.

"Give us the maximum of security," said he, "and France will give the maximum co-operation." He wished Canada a future worthy of the great nation from which she sprang.

Right Hon. Mr. Borden followed briefly speaking in French and then in English. He said the harmonious co-operation of French-Canadians and English-Canadians was a symbol and precursor of the entente cordiale of not Great Britain alone, but the British empire.

When Premier Poincare had spoken, Hon. L. P. Pelletier referred to the time when Canada had to raise a voice in the world's affairs, when she would be glad to be guided by the experience of two mother countries. Co-operating with Britain and France, Canada desired to preserve the world's peace. (Loud cheers in which the French premier joined).

LABOR AND CAPITAL.

One of the characteristics of the beginning of the twentieth century, as it will go down in history, is the growing unrest and discontent among the laboring masses and the conflict between capital and labor. The whole civilized world is in a foment of discontent over the inequitable distribution of the products of toil, and this discontent is the surest augury of better things. For discontent, when it has its foundation in a sense of injustice perpetrated by any one class in society as over or against another, has always been the precursor of revolution and reform. In the present case the discontent may be said to be largely a by-product of education. It is impossible that education should make way for scientific achievement without broadening the minds of common people, who are not and cannot be scientists. Education is altruism, and it is a law of altruism that it cannot benefit the higher classes without correspondingly influencing the lower classes. We use these terms in their traditional sense, for really there are no higher and lower classes.

Some allowance can be made, therefore, for the propagandism of the Socialist. Impracticable as is his preferred solution of economic problems, he at least keeps up consciousness of a keen sense of wrongs inflicted upon certain classes in society and without this sense, keenly resentful, it is impossible that reforms should be effected. The fundamental error of the Socialist is that he denies the varying quality of the service rendered to society by the individual. His theory reduces the productive capacity of individuals to a common denominator, and in doing so, apart altogether from the smothering of individual effort by the process, he inflicts a wrong upon the individual, which is as great, if not greater, than that inflicted by society in its present organization. He would abolish capital per se, while it is only the power which capital gives that is abused. So long as the labor of one individual differs in quality and value to society from that of another there must be a basis upon which this value shall be computed, and, consequently, some medium of exchange which must have a fixed value representing the value of labor to society. It is only by such a medium that labor can be co-operated, co-ordinated and unified for the reduction of toil and for specializing in production.

An aggregation of this medium of exchange is called capital. It is for the abolition of this that the Socialist agitates; it is for the equitable distribution of this that real reformers struggle. In one of the parables of the Teacher of Galilee He makes the servant who began to labor at the eleventh hour receive the "penny" as a reward of his production; a sum equal to that paid to those who began at the first hour. The raison d'etre of such a distinction can mean only that the value of the service rendered, considering time, opportunity and productiveness, must be determined by the value of what is produced.

Contemporary society is distinguished by three features—the violence of the contrast between the luxury of the rich and the indigence of the poor; the obviousness of this contrast in a society which has evolved means of communication which bring the rich within the observation of the poor; the absence of any difference of education or talents or manners corresponding with the difference between wealth and poverty. Labor has had a vision of the full opportunities which wealth might offer. It does not admit the superiority of the title by which those who now enjoy these opportunities hold them. It believes that it could make a better use of them. Labor, in short, is dreaming of a juster and a saner world than the present, and so dreaming it is restless. A radical remedy, perhaps the only adequate remedy, is a juster distribution which will put a full life within the reach of all. That can come, if at all, only steadily. It will not come through syndicalism. Profit-sharing, in so far as it tends to a modified distribution, may advance us; but only a very guileless optimist can expect that in any of the forms so far tried it will carry us anything like the whole way.

For our own part, we believe that the British government under the direction of Premier Asquith is attacking the problem in the right way, and that only along the lines indicated in the recent legislation of the Liberal party of Great Britain can there be any final solution of the problem rending society to-day.

SOUNDING THE TOCSIN.

The Ottawa Free Press naively admits that lack of organization rather than lack of sound policy upon which to appeal to the electorate is the present-day fault of the Liberal party in Canada. It sounds a clarion call to the provincial branches of the party throughout the Dominion, expressing the opinion that an election will take place at an early date. Among other pithy observations the Free Press says:

"The probability of a special session of the Dominion parliament to pass an emergency contribution to the British navy, in view of the critical condition of the international situation in Europe, should awaken the Liberal party to the necessity of at once perfecting its organization for the next election, whenever it may be called.

"That the time to prepare for war is in time of peace is as true in matters political as it is in matters national, and if the Liberal party hopes for success at the next elections, whether they came next year or the year after, it is not too soon to begin to prepare now for the fray.

"It may be said that this is midsummer and that there is no need to worry until the fall; but the other fellows are not adopting that policy. They are on the job night and day; they miss no opportunity of carrying out their propaganda. Why should not the Liberals do the same?"

Perhaps there is no part of the Dominion to which these words could have more pertinent application than to the province of British Columbia. Not since party lines were drawn has the Liberal party made any attempt at co-ordinated organization. The Liberals in each several community have been compelled to put up a purely local constituency fight. Though they have been able to show results creditable under such conditions, this fact alone is a sufficient guarantee that, with proper organization, the party could make a serious dent in the machine of the two political tricksters who control the destinies of the province at the present time.

A PATRIOT'S REWARD.

A dispatch from Ottawa states that Arthur Gilbert, ex-M. P. for Drummond-Arthabaska, has been appointed assistant collector of Inland Revenue at Victoriaville, Quebec. Gilbert is the Nationalist who won Drummond-Arthabaska on the navy issue in the fall of 1910. It was in that campaign that Dr. Blondin, whom Mr. Borden appointed Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, made his insulting references to the Union Jack, stating that it had been necessary to shoot holes in it "to let the spirit of liberty through." Others who assisted Mr. Gilbert in affrighting the simple peasants of the constituency with vivid pictures of the alleged British Moloch yearning for the blood of their children were Hon. F. D. Monk, present Minister of Public Works, Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Postmaster-General, who has been standing at Mr. Borden's right hand in his naval conferences, and Hon. Bruno Nantel, Minister of Inland Revenue.

Their speeches in that campaign were published in the press of Quebec at the time and can be obtained by local Tory imperialists without any difficulty. Fortuantely, the common-sense of the people eventually revolted against the campaign of slander and treason indulged in by the allies of Mr. Borden, and last September Drummond-Arthabaska turned Mr. Gilbert out. But his friends are still powerful at court, as his appointment shows. When Pelletier, Canada's political Robespierre, heard Mr. Borden in London speak of "one king, one flag, one navy," how he must have chuckled to himself!

In New York city the charge for assassination, to-wit: administering capital punishment, is $2,000. An eastern exchange thinks the fact that only 1 per cent. of the murderers are executed may be the explanation of the exorbitant charge for hanging.

It is said that the first municipal building to be erected under the commission form of government is the new city hall of Des Moines. Estimated to cost $350,000, it has been completed for $302,000. It would appear that an investigation is required.

• • •

The Montreal Gazette thinks that nothing will result from the renewed declaration of Saskatchewan in favor of freer and wider markets. "Maybe so," retorts the Herald. "Foolish people have ignored the signs of the times before this. But generally something has happened in the long run. A discontented West will not make a contented East."

• • •

King George saluted the American flag when it was carried past him in a military procession a few weeks ago. The Chicago Record-Herald thinks this act will go a long way to make the King unpopular in some parts of Canada.

• • •

The cables have not been kept very hot voicing expressions of British gratitude for the loyalty of Canadians since Hon. R. L. Borden said of the prognosis of his naval policy: "You have my authority for saying the statement is absolutely incorrect." How the slightest obstruction can sometimes dam a torrent.

• • •

The slaps meted out to public ownership in Manitoba because of incompetent administration will not change the attitude of a single thoughtful man, observes the Winnipeg Tribune. It is a principle which in practice under competent direction has been a success everywhere. In Winnipeg city public ownership has its triumphs, so in Ontario, also in Saskatchewan and Alberta cities.

• • •

May we modestly refer to the fact that the day after the Titanic disaster the Times attributed the accident to probable incompetency and negligence on the part of responsible persons. For this it was violently attacked by an overwise contemporary, which placed the blame for the accident on the Almighty. The British board of inquiry seems either to have accepted the view of the Times or to have arrived at the same conclusion after an exhaustive examination.

• • •

Dr. David Paulson, a prominent medical lecturer in Chicago, has set society ladies in that city at work over the wash-tub. "If you want to be beautiful," he declared in a recent lecture to women, "do your own washing." And the Chicago society ladies have taken this advice to heart. Wash-tub classes have been formed, and the wealthiest ladies in the city are hard at work learning how to wash, starch and iron clothing. The laundries may have reason to complain, but it is scarcely likely that this latest craze will last very long. It is too much like work to be interesting.

• • •

Mr. Borden will have the "frenzied jingoes" and the "mad imperialists" on his trail if he does not watch out. If Sir Wilfrid Laurier had said in one place that Canada did not propose to be an "adjunct" of Britain and in another that Canada "was the 'master' of her own destiny," he would assuredly have been accused by the extremely loyal Tory organs of being a "separatist," and possibly of several more terrible things. It makes a difference who says things, and also how they are said. There is a painful lack of finish and a peculiar indefiniteness in the premier's much-touted utterances.

A BRIDE IN OVERALLS.

"Two and a Tent" in Suburban Life.

The man wore flannel shirts and khaki; and I—blush not—wore overalls. A bride in overalls may seem shocking and un-Marlowesque in this drama. Nor do I plead for promiscuous feminine flight to trousers. But remember, gentle reader, that we were 100 miles from nowhere, that I cooked over a wood fire made on stones, and that in this primal life clothes were reduced to an ero utilitarian basis. How uncomfortable I was! And perhaps even a jot picturesque, as a red scarf and a jaunty hat lent a dash of chic to my outfit. Besides, the best old hunter and trapper on the lake told me that: "You be the most sensible dressed woman I ever see in these parts,"—and is that no praise?"

UNIVERSITY SEATS.

Montreal Star.

The new British Reform Bill will abolish the University seats. There will be a sentimental regret at this; but it could hardly be expected that the new Democracy would continue an arrangement by which certain aristocratic seats of learning were given as much political power as a populous London or Birmingham constituency. Some good men have sat for the Universities; but then the famous "rotten boroughs" opened the doors of parliament to many of its most brilliant ornaments. In the near future, Oxford and Cambridge must exercise their influence upon public affairs through the intellectual force of their graduates.

Leaves Telephone Company.—E. P. Johnston, who has been associated with the B. C. Telephone Company since 1899, to-day severs his connection with that organization to become assistant secretary of the British American Trust Company. Mr. Johnston first became connected with local telephone matters upon leaving the high school in 1895, when he entered the office of E. Crow-Baker, then secretary-treasurer of the Victoria and Esquimalt Telephone Company, eventually becoming accountant. In 1899 the company became incorporated in the B. C. Telephone Company and finally Mr. Johnston was appointed district commercial superintendent for Vancouver Island. He is highly esteemed as a courteous and energetic official. He will be succeeded as district superintendent by H. C. Lane, recorder in the office of the commercial superintendent of the company, Vancouver.

Forestry Convention Here.—The annual convention of the Canadian Forestry Association, for the first time since 1906, is to be held this year on the Pacific coast, the place being Victoria and the dates, September 4, 5 and 6. Mr. James Lawler, of Ottawa, secretary of the association, has just returned from the coast, where arrangements are now well under way for the meeting. In addition a number of prominent men interested in forest conservation in the east, both lumbermen and others, have signified their intention of being present. The railways have granted specially low rates to delegates, and as the subjects discussed will be of importance to all parts of Canada, it is expected there will be a large attendance. A number of well known forest engineers and lumbermen from the United States will also attend.

St. John's W. A. Picnic.—The annual picnic of St. John's W. A. was held yesterday at Rickford's Grove, Florence Lake, the members, accompanied by several of their friends, leaving town by the 9 o'clock train in the morning. At Colwood they were met by Mr. Bickford, who drove them to the picnic grounds, the day being pleasantly spent in sports into which one and all the contestants entered with great enthusiasm. The beautiful weather which prevailed added not a little to the success of the occasion, and in addition to the usual amusements of racing, boating, and competitions of various kinds, the picnickers had a most delightful luncheon and tea in the grounds. Before returning home three cheers were given by the visitors on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Bickford, who had done so much toward making the occasion an enjoyable one. Among those present were Rev. A. J. Stanley Ard, assistant rector of St. John's church, and Mrs. Ard.

Registrar Resigns.—D. Whiteside, provincial registrar of joint stock companies, severs his connection with the government service to-day and will engage in law practice in New Westminster. His successor is H. G. Garrett, barrister, of this city.

The Park Greenhouse.—When the greenhouse is built at Beacon Hill park as authorized on Monday, it will be possible to have available such plants as palms and flowers for civic functions as occasion arises. The nursery to-day is considered the best in the province, and represents a valuable collection of young trees unexcelled elsewhere on the coast.

○ ○ ○

Sooke Waterworks.—No date has yet been fixed for the special meeting of the city council on the continuance of the Sooke waterworks contract with the present contractors, some inquiries having to be made meanwhile, following the conference between the special committee and the representatives of the Westholme Lumber Company last Wednesday.

○ ○ ○

Making the Gorge Passage.—In spite of preparations to prevent a recurrence of the accident of last week at the Gorge, by the establishment of a boat and life belts and similar rescue appliances at the Bath House, the danger of accidents continues through the foolhardy efforts of certain persons to make the passage knowing nothing of conditions and refusal to tow the boat by way of the footpath under the bridge. To the canoes and rowboats the motor launch has added another terror, and a canoe party was nearly swamped last night by the wash from a motor boat in making the passage.

○ ○ ○

High School Arbitration Case.—Owing to the unwillingness of the city to meet the arbitration settlement offered by the Worswick Paving Company for expropriation of part of the high school site, the proceedings continued this afternoon. The company offered to waive their claim of $50,000 if the council would grant the use of the lots across the street on Gladstone avenue, and give a sum of $6,000, the lots to be at their disposal for a period of six years during the unexpired term of a contract. The matter was set over till Friday to be discussed at a meeting of the streets committee. Meanwhile the city solicitor reported the action of the council to the arbitrators.

Grocers' Picnic.—At the warehouse of F. R. Stewart & Co. last evening an enthusiastic committee met to consider the plans for the grocers' annual basket picnic, which is to be held on August 22. It was decided that this should be held at Goldstream, and the committee had already made arrangements for the clearance of the grounds and for the proper sprinkling of the grounds so that there will be no dust or dirt to spoil the enjoyable features of the occasion. A programme of sports is being prepared, and the pavilion will be open in the evening for dancing, so that an excellent time may be expected by all who intend participating in the day's proceedings.

B. C. Society of Architects.—The local chapter will hold an extraordinary general meeting at the chapter rooms, corner of Broughton and Langley streets, to-morrow night at 8 p. m. There is much important business to come before the meeting, and a good attendance is looked for. Among the items will be the secretary's progress report, election of secretary, presidential address and other business. The new rooms are now in good shape. Splendid electric light fixtures have been installed by the Hinton Electric Co. and the house committee are hard at work hanging pictures, and arranging for the library. A course of lectures and papers of general interest to members and associates is being arranged for the winter months, and when this is completed printed copies will be forwarded to all members. The head council are hard at work upon the proposed registration bill, and there are numerous sub-committees rounding various subjects into shape. Capt. H. J. Rous Cullin, of this city, and Mr. Bryan, of Vancouver, are a sub-committee to draw up a form of contract between architect and contractor. These will be submitted to a general meeting of the society, and when passed will be incumbent on all members.

ALPINE CLUB CAMP

To-day the seventh annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada opened at Vermilion Pass, on the main range of the Rockies, accommodation having been prepared for 150 members—honorary, active, associate and graduating and subscribing, in addition to the Swiss guides who are engaged for various points in the Rockies, and who will give a fresh impetus to the sport.

The camp, which is on the line of the new motor road from Banff to Windermere, is about eight miles from the nearest railway station at Castle, on the C. P. R., and is pitched in the forest on the south side of the Vermilion Pass, at an altitude of 5,300 feet. On the east rise Storm Mountain and Mt. Ball; on the west the Boom Lake Mountains and Mt. Whymper, while Boom Lake itself is nearby, and will be one of the great attractions of the camp. The field is little known, and abounds in interesting topographical features, and numerous climbs will be afforded the Alpinists. The graduating climbs must be over 10,000 feet altitude, and may be any glacier hung peak within reach, although Storm Mountain (10,309 feet) will be accepted.

Among those who left Vancouver for the camp this week were W. W. Foster, J. Trorey, T. H. England, Miss De Beck, Mrs. L. M. McKechnie, Thomas Ingram, Rev. A. H. Sovereign, F. H. Hewton, O. T. Nelson, P. D. McTavish, Miss A. Hay, Miss E. B. Fowler, A. O. Wheeler, A.C., F.R.G.S., C. H. Gillis, local secretary, and D. N. McTavish, chairman of the Vancouver branch. Almost immediately at the close of the Vermilion Pass camp, a party of visitors, including a number of eminent geologists and botanists, will make a visit to Strathcona Park under the auspices of the Alpine Club, W. W. Foster, deputy minister of public works, having undertaken to act as guide to the party.

The deputy minister and the more important visitors will leave Victoria for Campbell River on August 15, making the journey by means of motor car; at Campbell river they will be joined by such others as intend participating, who will leave Vancouver on the 15th by the "Adventure," and will arrive the following day at the point from which the entire party will leave. Among the visitors will be J. D. Patterson, of Woodstock, the vice-president of the Alpine Club who, with the rest of the party, will spend some days in making the difficult trip into the park, and in the surveying of this great pleasure ground of the Canada of the future. Among the visitors invited by the Alpine Club to participate in the trip will be many Americans, and there is little doubt but that most of these will go away with some quite new impressions of the scenic beauties of the island.

Cause of Complaint.—A rush call of portion of the No. 1 fire company to an ash fire at the George Jay school this morning drew attention to a serious obstruction of Broad street by wagons, forcing the driver to stop short and turn up Pandora avenue out of the way. This obstruction of Broad street between Pandora and Johnson by wagons on both sides of the street is a serious one to the brigade, which has several times been prevented from using Broad street on the way to a fire during the last few months.

Cadet Band To-night.—After a two-weeks' holiday the Victoria Cadet band will be heard again this evening at the North Ward park, the concert to commence at 7.30 under the direction of Bandmaster Plowright. The boys should give a particularly good concert, as they have had a complete rest for two weeks, and previously had been enjoying themselves considerably in their trip to New Westminster with the Orangement, whom they accompanied to the Royal City on July 12. On their return they went into camp with the Cadets at Macaulay Plains, and since that camp broke up two weeks ago have made no public appearances. The band numbered twenty-seven boys at that time, but during the last few days several others have joined the force, including a clarionet and a cornet, so that the reinforced number will be able to give the public something even better than hitherto. To-night they will play, by special request, the Cadets' March, specially composed for the band by Bandmaster Plowright, and Assistant Bandmaster Fox, a composition which was heard for the first time about a month ago. Other popular selections which will be given will be Wagner's "Under the Double Eagle," and "Blue Danube Waltz," by Strauss.

And that settled it. He found that the "Silent Knight" is not merely an improvement on others, not merely an advance on old ideas. It is a revolution in motor mechanics which must eventually sweep the field of all other types. There simply wasn't any use wasting time on further comparisons—the first explanation of the "Silent Knight" idea convinced him of that. Then he just had to decide on

LABOR DAY PICNIC.

Committee Will Be Formed To-Night to Handle Arrangements—Object in View.

The proposed workers' picnic on Labor Day, with the Caledonian sports, will help to fill the holiday fixtures, in addition to sporting events which may be announced during the next month. The committee for the labor picnic will not be limited to members of the unions affiliated with the Trades and Labor Council, but with all craft unions in the city, and at the special meeting this evening it is the intention of the organizers to strike a strong committee to see the arrangements through. It is felt that while extensive arrangements are always made on the mainland for the labor holiday, little has been done in Victoria, and the distance precludes men with families taking the children over to the union festivals there, so a picnic at home, associated with sports for all classes, and with the usual talk on labor questions from some prominent speakers, will be acceptable. As there are two thousand organized workers in the city, the advantage of a picnic on their special behalf will be apparent.

Tacoma	45	62	.421

Up to the ninth inning Victoria didn't have a look in at the game at Portland yesterday. Doty was invincible up to then, but in the final session he cracked and almost fell to pieces. Brooks struck out with the bases taxed to their limit and saved him, but, as it was, two runs pattered across the platter. "Kiddo" Wilson started for the Bees, but he wasn't right and was lifted in the fourth to make room for McCreery. McCreery was scored on a couple of times before he got warmed up, but afterwards he hurled shut-out ball. The score:

SPOKANE WINS; MYERS' WORK ALL TO THE TYRUS COBB

Spokane, July 31.—Kraft was boss of the situation in the pinches in yesterday's game between Vancouver and Spokane. Gervais pitched well, but his teammates were unable to hit the offerings of Spokane's southpaw. Myers' base running was a feature of the game. He stole second, third and home in the first inning. MANY OF COBB'S HITS ARE SCRATCHES SAY BROWNS

Talking about players who get lucky hits, the St. Louis Browns one and all will say that Tyrus Cobb is the man who gets most of them. They do not want to belittle the Georgia Peach's worth, but just the same it is naught but the truth—Cobb gets many hits that are very lucky.

In many instances he bunts the ball and just as the fielder is about to make the pickup the ball bounds over his noodle. Luck is with the demon Detroiter in such instances; otherwise he would have been an easy victim. Then he gets many when fielders take it easy, thinking they have lots of time to get their man. It may be all right to take chances with some players, but not with Cobb. If you wait a fraction of a second it means a total loss when you throw to catch him.

But when it comes to getting lucky hits, Ty Cobb has it on all of them, no matter who he is.

LACROSSE CLUB FOR VICTORIA IN 1913

Westminster - Vancouver Entanglement Makes it a Practical Certainty

According to an eastern dispatch there is a distinct probability that Victoria will be represented by a professional lacrosse team next season. For some time past lacrosse men in the province have been considering the advisability of placing a team here and it was thought likely that they would do so, but the recent extraordinary developments in the Westminster-Vancouver league have made it practically a certainty.

Con Jones arrived in Toronto yesterday and immediately went into conference with Jimmy Murphy with regard to arrangements for the visit of an all-star eastern team on the coast. September 8 or 9 was suggested as the date for leaving the east if the team were sent out. Three games would be played against the Vancouver Minto Cup holders.

Not only is Con Jones after an eastern all-star team, but he wants both "Big Four" and N. L. U. champions to come west and play for the world's championship. In this way no doubt does Con figure to keep his aggregation together and pay expenses even if Westminster does not finish out the season.

Nothing was said in the Murphy-Jones conference concerning the establishment of a permanent team of eastern players on this coast this season, but Jones intimated that Victoria would be the home of such a team next season.

Lacrosse officials in the east believe that the Con Jones' mission to Toronto will result in the solution of the difficulty in the B. C. league as well as patching up the differences between east and west. Following a meeting of lacrosse men in Toronto yesterday everyone appeared satisfied that the game will be played on a more businesslike basis hereafter.

CRICKET

Both the premier Victoria teams will be over in Vancouver next Saturday, for the Albions are down to play the Vancouver eleven on their own mead.

For to-morrow there has been a match arranged between Victoria and Garrison at the Work Point ground, while the B team plays the Bachelors at the Jubilee Hospital ground.

A match of great interest, not only to all cricketers but to the general public as well, will be that between the Albions and the city eleven at the Jubilee Hospital ground on Saturday week, August 10, when Coppinger, the groundsman, will be accorded a benefit. The cheery little professional is a great favorite with the cricketers of Victoria, for as well as being a capable groundsman, he is a cricketer of note and a sportsman to the backbone. If only for the good that he has done to the game in this city it is hoped that every sportsman will endeavor to be present at the game or at least purchase a ticket of entry for as worthy an object as has ever been placed before the public.

Yesterday an entry for the cricket tournament was received from the Saanich club, which is entering a team to compete in the annual cricket week.

M'LOUGHLIN AND PUNDY WIN.

Lake Forest, Ill., July 31.—M. E. McLoughlin and T. C. Bundy, of Los Angeles, defeated Cy. Smith and Nat. Thornton, of Atlanta, in the semi-finals of the preliminary national doubles, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1. The Pacific coast team outclassed the southerns.

WOLGAST SHOWS HIS RESPECT FOR RIVERS

Champion's Unwillingness to Sign Up Again Can Mean But One Thing

The recent bickerings of Ad Wolgast and Tom Jones, followed by their flat refusal to sign up with Joe Rivers again until at least Thanksgiving day, indicate what Wolgast has already acknowledged—that he is not the fighter he was of old, and that they have more respect for this Rivers person than they would have the sporting public believe.

The opinion that Wolgast had the better of the last mill is general among critics who saw the mill, but the unsatisfactory ending gives the little Mexican first claim on a return match when the champion decides that he is right and is willing to take another chance in the squared circle.

Champions have their rights, which are becoming more pronounced as time passes; but the boxing fans who furnish the fuel for these get-rich-quick matches also have opinions of their own, and public sentiment will clamor for a return match, irrespective of the probable chances of the challenger.

Rivers' rise since he started boxing has been rapid, and outside of his defeat by Johnny Kilbane on what is termed the rankest kind of a fluke, he has met with no reverses until he hooked up in the questionable battle with Wolgast.

Rivers came to Los Angeles and in the rough and tumble life of a big American city rapidly acquired proficiency in defending himself with his hands as the other youngsters did. He more than held his own, and was several times given an opportunity to show at athletic clubs.

About three years ago Uncle Tom McCarey was standing in Al Greenwald's cigar store on Spring street, Los Angeles, biting his nails because one of the principals had failed to show up for a fight the next night that he had scheduled for the old Naud Junction Pavilion. Max Weber, a sturdy feather, was billed to appear in a 20-round go, and his opponent had disappeared. McCarey was at his wits' ends to find some one to substitute when the ragged little Mexican lad tugged at his sleeve and asked for the chance.

The boy was unknown to the promoter, but several of the bystanders who had seen him in action about the city urged that he be given a chance and McCarey agreed, telling him to be on hand the next evening about a half hour before the go so that he would be sure that the Mexican would go on. Then the little dark fellow was forced to tell McCarey that he did not have car fare to go to the pavilion and also that he would be able to fight much better if he could get several good meals before the battle, and McCarey came across.

The next day Rivers entered the ring in a borrowed pair of trunks, an old pair of worn-out tennis shoes and a full stomach, and, tearing into Weber, knocked him out in the third round.

Some time ago at the same cigar store a different scene was enacted. A big $5,000 touring car came rushing to the door and stopped with a scream of grinding brakes at the entrance. A debonair young man of rather a swarthy complexion, the picture of perfect health and training, stepped from the machine and taking off a light dust coat, threw it in the tonneau. He flicked a particle of dust from his highly polished shoes and stepped briskly into the store. One of the first to step up and greet the newcomer was McCarey, who was called "Uncle Tom" in an affectionate tone. The youngster wore fully $2,000 worth of diamonds on his fingers and in his cravat.

This was Rivers, who three years ago had to ask McCarey for the price of a meal and car fare. July 4 he made practically $10,000 for the two hours he was on the platform.

KING GEORGE CUP.

New York, July 31.—The New York Yacht club received word from England to-day that King George V. had presented a cup to the club to take the place of the cup presented by the late King Edward VII. The King Edward cup has been raced for each year at the finish of the club's cruise to Newport. The new cup presented by King George is to take the place of the King Edward cup as the trophy. The King Edward cup will be retained by the club as a memorial.

First Winner.

Toronto, July 31.—The Nirawana, of the R. C. Y. C. fleet won the first race for the King George cup to-day by 2 minutes and 43 seconds. Her time over the 12-mile course was 2:11:48. The Watertown was the American challenger.

THOROUGHBREDS ON WAY TO RACES AT VANCOUVER

San Francisco, July 31.—Three express cars containing $100,000 worth of horse flesh, left yesterday for Salem, Ore., and Vancouver, B. C. There are 33 trotters and pacers in the cars, of which 11 are billed straight through to Vancouver. The other two carloads stop at Salem, to train for the Oregon state fair and the Portland harness meet.

CROQUET TOURNAMENT.

Victoria's annual croquet tournament, which was postponed to avoid clashing with the tennis tourney, will take place next week starting Monday, at the Cadboro Bay lawns. Entries will be received up to Friday by H. G. Garrett, the secretary.

"ONE-ROUND" HOGAN AND TOM M'FARLAND

Boxers Ready For Gong To-night—Attell May Meet Kilbane Again

San Francisco, July 31.—"One-Round" Hogan and Tommy McFarland are spending a quiet day in their training quarters, waiting for the gong to-night, when they meet in a fifteen-round fight. Hogan is an overwhelming favorite in the betting at 2 to 1.

McFarland is a newcomer in the fighting game, who gained his right to meet Hogan by a decisive victory over Eddie Dennis in four rounds.

Jack Welch will act as referee next Saturday in the twenty-round fight between Abe Attell and Harlem Tommy Murphy. If Murphy wins he will be offered twenty rounds with Willie Ritchie, but if Attell proves victorious his reward will be a go with Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion. At least this is Manager Coffroth's ambition and September 9 is the date he has in mind.

AMERICAN DISTANCE RUNNER ACCEPTS WOODS' CHALLENGE

New York, July 31.—Billy Queal, the American distance runner, has accepted the recent challenge issued by A. E. Wood, of England, for a race at any distance for $1,000 a side. Queal's only condition is that the distance be 10 miles or more. Details will be arranged here this week.

WILL HONOR GOULDING.

Toronto, Ont., July 31.—The board of control to-day decided to present George Goulding, the Olympic champion walker, with a silver tea service in recognition of his grand showing at Stockholm. He will reach Montreal to-morrow night and arrive here Thursday evening when he will be accorded a public reception.

DURNAN-HACKETT RACE IS ON TO-DAY; POSTPONED TUESDAY

Bandete, Minn., July 31.—The match for the sculling championship of America between Hackett, of Rainy River, Ont., former champion, and Durnan, of Orillia, the title-holder, will take place to-day. Rough water caused a postponement yesterday.

CHAMPION HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEFEAT

It Was Touch and Go at One Stage, But Schwengers Kept His Head and Won Out

In the semi-final of the International men's singles yesterday afternoon, B. P. Schwengers, the Canadian champion had as narrow an escape from defeat as a man can possibly have without actually going down to it. He was opposed to Joe Tyler, Spokane, who won the mainland championship at Vancouver last week, and with the score at 5-4 in the latter's favor in the third set, it looked long odds on the American winning out, especially when the umpire called 40-15 in favor of Tyler. Another point would have won the Spokane player the match, and the right to compete in the final of the championship, and Schwengers is to be congratulated on his nerve at what must have been one of the most critical moments of his tennis career.

Tyler failed in two overhead drives, and Schwengers took the game, making the scores five all in the deciding set. Then followed a great battle for supremacy. First Schwengers took the lead, and then his opponent, while the large crowd on the edge of the courts hung on the movement of the ball almost breathlessly. At last in the twentieth game, with the score standing 15-40, Tyler served a double fault thus bringing the match to an abrupt conclusion.

It cannot be said that either of the men played up to his reputation or capabilities. Tyler depended for his shots almost solely on one stroke, the back-hand drive with the elbow crooked at the moment of impact, and the cut which he applied to his volleying caused the ball to keep uncomfortably low for Schwengers, who returned into the net time after time. Both men played up at the net a great deal, but for a championship match there were surprisingly few long rallies, except in the first set when the men were fresh. Tyler's cross volleying was very fine as also was his picking up on the half volley, a proceeding which got him out of difficulties many times.

Schwengers won mainly through his superior service and fine overhead driving, while his knowledge of the topography of the court was better than his opponent's. Also he had more truly gauged the pace of the turf, while his clean picking up of low drives often excited the admiration of the spectators. The concentration of both men was remarkable, and there was really little to choose between them. Schwengers had some trouble with his racket, and he found it necessary to change on two occasions, and it is probable that the change did him little good.

B. P. SCHWENGERS
Champion of Canada.

A Contrast in Styles.

In the other international semi-final Capt. Foulkes, of Victoria, and ex-champion of Canada, was opposed to Cardinall, of Vancouver, who has played remarkably good tennis throughout the present tournament. The game was somewhat slow to watch, though replete with skilful play and long rallies. But both men were content to play from the base line, and that militated largely against fast tennis.

The most noticeable feature of the match was the marked contrast in styles. Consciously or unconsciously, Cardinall plays the game advocated, and defended by the greatest living tennis expert and theorist, P. A. Vaile. At the moment when his racket strikes the ball the forearm is in a perfectly straight line with the handle of the racket. The important follow-through was also most pronounced. These two factors in his play gave the Vancouver man the capacity of getting splendid direction to his drives, his work down the side-lines being of the highest quality. With a little more pace in the court, and more force in his volleying, Cardinall would have been a difficult man to beat for the championship. Captain Foulkes won by his sheer ability to get everything back. His work on some occasions almost bordered on the acrobatic, and there was that about his game which denoted fine headwork and a perfect command of his racket. This latter characteristic was particularly noticeable when the captain was running to take a ball, which had been lobbed well over his head.

The Victoria player took the first set by 7-5, after a long struggle in which steadiness was matched with steadiness, but in which the sheer doggedness of the captain finally prevailed. In the second set the captain had matters much more his own way and frequently came up to the net to place admirably judged returns out of his opponent's reach. Most of the games were long and well-fought-out, but there was little sting behind most of the strokes and few of the low-trajectory drives that one is accustomed to seeing in high class tennis. The captain won the second set by 6-3.

Championship Doubles.

In the international doubles Tyler and Brain again proved themselves to be one of the best if not the best pair entered in the tournament. They know each other's play so well that their combined work is full of understanding and force. Yesterday the superb placing of Brain was again very much in evidence. He had a way of finding the very edge of the court with plenty of break on the ball so that it swerves outside and generally leaves the opponent guessing. Tyler's forcefulness proved too much for Rich and Turner, who were beaten 6-4, 7-5.

The match between Jukes and Evans and Schwengers and Foulkes in the other semi-final was uninteresting. Schwengers was obviously played out by his hard struggle in the singles with Tyler, or else both players were saving themselves for the final to-morrow. They were content to play a soft lobbing game, which though sufficient to win with inferior players was quite the wrong game to attempt with such men as the Vancouver pair whose killing at the net and clean driving were features of the match. The two Victoria cracks were easily beaten by 6-3, 6-4.

On form it is very probable that Tyler and Brain will win the doubles final to-day.

Full results in yesterday's matches are appended:

Sidelights on the Tourney.

One has grown accustomed to the oft-repeated complaint of hostesses that "men do not go to afternoon functions in this country; they are too busy in their offices." But one can trace the lightness of the tie in the ease with which it is torn asunder when such functions as tennis, golf, or other annual tournaments come to tempt them to the open air, the sunlight, and—quite incidentally, of course—the pleasures of afternoon tea in pleasant company. Enthusiasm in Victoria, when it runs at all, runs high, and it would be difficult to find a more enthusiastic gathering than that which assembled yesterday and the day before at the tennis courts to watch the players. This was particularly noticeable yesterday during the match between the local champion and the visitor from Spokane, scarcely a person leaving his seat during the long struggle which lasted for more than an hour and three-quarters. Every movement of the players was watched with intense interest; every flying ball was fraught with terrible potentialities to the spectators. Interest in the intensity of the struggle became only temporarily and periodically changed to sympathy for one or other of the combatants when some "easy" ball was missed, or to admiration when some equally difficult ball was returned, well-placed, and out of reach of his opponent. Each man was a favorite, and the spectators were quick in their appreciation of a good play on either side—while even the most amiable interrup-

TEUCER FIRST OF FLEET TO ARRIVE

NEW WIRELESS RECORD SET FOR HOLT LINERS

Spoken 630 Miles From Here—Tamba and Empress Also Spoken

All three of the trans-Pacific liners now racing across the Pacific from Yokohama with valuable cargoes of silk aboard were spoken last evening by the operator at Estevan. According to the messages received here the Blue Funnel liner Teucer, Capt. Yarwood, will be the first to arrive here, and she should put in an appearance early to-morrow evening. Her position at 8 o'clock last night was latitude 50.02 north and longitude 138.46 west, which figures out to be 630 miles from Victoria, constituting a new record for long-distance wireless talking for the Blue Funnel fleet.

The following day after the Teucer arrives at this port the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Tamba Maru, Captain Wada, will dock here. She was spoken last night for the first time, and although her position was not given, the master of the steamship reported that he would reach William Head at noon on Friday. At midnight the R. M. S. Empress of Japan, Capt. Robinson, was 1,350 miles from Victoria, and shipping men figure that the big white liner should be in on Saturday afternoon.

Telegraphic advices received here by the respective agents of the steamships show that the three vessels have cargoes worth approximately $4,000,000. The Teucer has a million dollar shipment for New York, and she will only remain at this port long enough to permit her Chinese passengers to disembark. She will proceed immediately to Tacoma, where the valuable cargo will be discharged and sent eastward on special train. The Teucer will return here about Sunday or Monday to unload 2,000 tons of general merchandise.

The Tamba Maru is bringing about three-quarters of a million dollars' worth of silk, which will be forwarded to New York. As cargo for Victoria the Tamba has 750 tons, and her passenger list includes 165 Orientals for this city. The Empress has over a million dollars' worth of silk aboard, and the remainder of her cargo is very valuable. The white liner will not put off any cargo at this port, but will unload it at Vancouver to be reshipped here. Aboard the Empress is one of the largest lists of Chinese to be brought from the Orient this year. About 200 of them will disembark here.

The record established by the wireless operator aboard the Teucer is several hundred miles farther than the Blue Funnel boats have ever been spoken before. The range of the apparatus on the big freighters is only slightly over 200 miles, but with good atmospheric conditions last night the Teucer was able to set a new record.

VESSEL HELPLESS OFF WEST COAST

SNOHOMISH SENT AFTER SCHOONER WASHINGTON

Drifting in Close to Shores of Vancouver Island—Tug May Rescue Her

Drifting helpless before a southeast wind the American steam-schooner Washington was sighted by the wireless operator at Estevan this morning displaying distress signals. The machinery of the vessel in some way became disabled and as she carried little sail it was impossible for the master and crew to work the vessel off shore. Slowly she was carried towards the rocky shores of the west coast of Vancouver Island, and when abeam of Estevan she was not a great distance out to sea.

When he saw that the vessel was in distress the operator returned to his key and commenced to call the life-saving tug Snohomish, which was lying in Neah Bay. He was successful in picking up the American boat, and she started out in search of the vessel immediately. At noon to-day no further news was received of the position of the vessel, but according to the reports which were flashed here this morning it was believed that the Snohomish would reach the disabled vessel before she was carried on to the shores.

The reports received here stated that the disabled vessel was the schooner Washington, and shipping men here take her to be the steam-schooner Washington, which was disabled off the Columbia river last winter, and was only rescued after the tug Tatoosh, Captain Bailey, worked her way in among the breakers and performed one of the most daring rescue feats ever accomplished on the Pacific coast. At that time the Washington had a number of passengers aboard, and was bound from Portland to San Francisco. She crossed the bar at the Columbia river during heavy weather, and when but a short distance outside her machinery broke down and she was carried by the wind towards the Oregon coast. For some time she worked about among the gigantic seas, and it was miraculous that the vessel escaped destruction.

Further details of the mishap to the Washington are awaited here with interest.

TRAGEDY ON ZEALANDIA.

Mother Jumps Overboard From Big Liner Shortly After Leaving Honolulu.

Auckland, N. Z., July 31.—A sad tragedy at sea was reported on arrival of the steamship Zealandia here yesterday. When four days out from Honolulu, Mrs. Ettie Opland and her six-year-old son were drowned in mid-ocean. The woman, who left her husband in Honolulu, is said to have jumped from the deck into the water with her son. Life buoys were thrown, but the woman refused to seize the help offered. When a boat was lowered no traces except the cap of the child could be found.

ANOTHER TRAMP TO LOAD COAL.

Strathearn to Load at Norfolk for San Francisco—Strathspey Has Rails for Rupert.

San Francisco, July 31.—The U. S. government has chartered the British steamer Strathearn for coal from Norfolk to San Francisco, and it is understood that three more tramp steamers will be taken shortly for the same business. Of these five Strath vessels now listed for this port and one for Prince Rupert, B. C., there is not one disengaged, the Portland Flouring Mills and A. E. Thane & Co. having fixed the last unchartered ones yesterday for flour to the Orient and lumber to Australia respectively. The Strathspey, en route from Sydney, C. B., for Prince Rupert, arrived at Coronel Sunday. She is under charter to Thane & Co. to load on the Sound for Australia, as is the Strathardle, 46 days out from Norfolk for this port. The Strathearn, which left the Atlantic port the same day as the Strathardle, is under charter to Hind, Rolph & Co. to load in Sound ports for Australia.

NEWS OF THE SEVEN SEAS

FIRST FERTILIZER CARGO GOES SOUTH

British Columbia Leaves Port To-day for San Pedro—Heavy Shipments

With the first cargo of guano to be sent south since the whaling season opened this year, the coasting steamer British Columbia left port to-day for San Pedro, Cal. The vessel loaded about 1,000 tons at the Naden Harbor and Rose Harbor stations and came in here yesterday for orders. It is more than likely that after the British Columbia has discharged her guano at the California port she will take on a shipment of asphalt to act as ballast for the northern trip.

At the close of the whaling season last year the steamer Gray, Capt. Shadforth, of the Canadian North-Pacific Fisheries Company, made four trips from the British Columbia stations to San Pedro, taking 1,000 tons of fertilizer each voyage. Such large orders have been received from the south this year for guano that the whaling company has been forced to charter another steamer to assist in taking the whale product to San Pedro. It is expected that after the whaling season has closed the Gray will make several trips to the southern port.

Yesterday afternoon the steamer Gray arrived here from Rose Harbor, Naden Harbor and Kyuquot with 300 tons of whale oil and considerable fertilizer. After she has put off the cargo she will leave for Ladysmith to coal and then head northward again. The output of the whaling stations this year is so large that the company has taken the steamer Ophir to help in bringing the oil and fertilizer from the two west coast stations.

AFTER ORIENTAL SERVICE.

Several Proposals Made By Committee—Steamship Companies Neglecting Rose City.

Portland, July 31.—Three big propositions for continuing the Portland-Oriental service rest before the Chamber of Commerce Oriental committee. This committee has been holding daily meetings behind closed doors since the O. W. R. & N. Co. announced that it would not charter vessels to succeed the Waterhouse line because charters are too high.

The most significant of the proposals is that Portland issue bonds to the amount of $3,000,000 and with the money build four ships costing $750,000 each. Since the city voted to spend $2,500,000 for public docks many citizens believe that the logical and necessary step in the face of the present crisis is for Portland to take charge of the situation and control transportation here, not only as affects the Oriental service, but other points which Portland should reach with a vigorous trade extension policy.

The second proposition before the committee is to reach out for ships that the railroad might have missed when it announced that because of abnormally high charters the Oriental service would not be continued after Waterhouse withdraws next month. There have been communications, it is understood, with many steamship owners in all parts of the world and the prospect of obtaining charters is said not to be altogether discouraging.

The third proposal is to so organize the shippers of the city as to give the business only to the line that provides Oriental service from the Portland terminal.

That the O. W. R. & N. Company, or the Harriman system, has never bestirred itself in providing equipment beyond the bare present traffic necessities is frankly asserted by many Portland shippers.

That the Hill lines would install a Portland-Oriental service should accident or other cause withdraw the Hill owned Minnesota from the Puget Sound-Oriental service, and that this disposition could be made to produce results for the benefit of Portland if organization of a sufficiently progressive and vigorous kind were perfected has been intimated by those who are closely in contact with the situation. Whether the Harriman lines would find charters impossible in view of the organized hostility of shippers is a conjecture of no little interest to the shipping public of Portland.

An effort to finance a Portland-owned line by popular subscription of $5,000 has been begun by an evening paper, which heads the list itself. Subscriptions during the three days since the first call approximated $100,000.

The Boscowitz steamer Venture, Capt. Parks, arrived in port from Bella Coola this afternoon. She is leaving for the north to-night and will take out a number of passengers.

GOOD CROWD BROUGHT SOUTH FROM RUPERT

Prince Rupert Brings 150 Passengers — Has Splendid Weather During Trip

One hundred and fifty passengers came south from Prince Rupert aboard the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Barney Johnson, which arrived in port this morning. The majority of the passengers left the Rupert at Vancouver, although a number came through to Victoria and many others continued on to Seattle. Quite a few tourists made the round trip on the Prince Rupert to the northern town.

Among those who came south on the steamer were the following: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fisher, well-known residents of Prince Rupert, who formerly lived in Victoria; Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews and son, of Toronto, who have been in the north on a visit; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. W. Boultbee, of Vancouver, who made the round trip on the Rupert, and Greer Starrett, of the Canadian Fish Company. The Canadian Fish Company owns the large cold storage plant at Seal Cove, and Mr. Starrett says they have commenced to make ice there. The plant is one of the largest of its kind in America.

Splendid weather prevailed throughout the southbound run and the passengers had every opportunity to enjoy themselves on deck. The Prince Rupert left here this morning for Seattle and will return from the Sound to-morrow morning, sailing at 10 o'clock for Prince Rupert. A good list of passengers has been booked here for the steamer.

Yesterday afternoon the steamer Henrietta, Capt. O'Brien, of the same fleet, arrived in port from the north. She left this morning for Seattle to load a heavy shipment of machinery for Prince Rupert.

The steamer Prince John, Capt. Wearmouth, which is now at Esquimalt, will get away some time to-morrow for Prince Rupert. She will come around to the G. T. P. docks to-night to load for the north.

FRASER FISHING VESSELS SEIZED

Vancouver, July 31.—Six or seven Fraser river salmon fishing boats were yesterday afternoon seized off Point Roberts by a U. S. revenue-cutter on the ground that they were operating in American waters. The occupants of the boats claimed that they were on the Canadian side of the boundary line but they were not listened to and were taken to Blaine, together with their boats. It is reported that the cases will all be tried at Blaine. Fraser river salmon canners are to-day getting in touch with the men whose boats were seized and every effort will be made to care for their interests.

SCHOONER OVERDUE.

Believed to Have Foundered Causing Loss of Five Lives.

Sarnia, Ont., July 31.—On July 22 the schooner Julia Larson sailed out of the port of Sarnia. A telegram received from St. Joseph, Mich., says:

"The Julia Larson, which sailed for here last Monday, has not arrived. It is feared she has gone down with all on board."

The Larson is owned by the Goodrich Transportation Company, and the trip was her first. Captain Lawrence was in charge, with his two sons as crew. His wife and a child were also on the boat. All are of Sarnia.

SMUGGLER MAKES CONFESSION.

San Francisco, July 31.—A confession said to involve men in the employ of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company was made to federal agents to-day by Charles F. May, ship's carpenter of the trans-Pacific liner Korea, who is now in jail on a charge of opium-smuggling. May was caught while rowing away from the vessel's side in a small boat loaded with 189 tins of opium.

He is said to have been influenced to confess, both by his fiancee and by a promise of leniency from the prosecutor. Arrest of the men implicated is expected shortly.

HUMBOLDT CASE AGAIN.

Charges of Discrimination by White Pass Railway Were Heard at Juneau.

Seattle, July 31.—General Manager Max Kalish, of the Humboldt Steamship Company, returned yesterday from Juneau, where he attended the hearing and investigation conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the charges of unlawful discrimination made by the Humboldt Steamship Company against the White Pass & Yukon Railway Company.

The hearing was held by Commissioner E. E. Clarke, who went to Alaska under the direction of the commission. The original charges filed with the commission by the Humboldt Steamship Company in 1909 were investigated and the methods of business followed by the White Pass & Yukon Railway Company in the ticketing of through freight and passengers thoroughly probed. President O. L. Dickinson, Auditor J. H. Miller, and Superintendent V. R. Hahn testified, and records and accounts of the company were gone over by Commissioner Clarke. The hearing lasted two days, after which the Humboldt Steamship Company was given until September 15 and the White Pass & Yukon Railway Company until October 15, in which to file briefs.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS STEADILY ADVANCE

Month of July Has Total of Nearly $200,000—Chinese Figures Are High

Customs returns for the month of July show a decided increase over the figures for the corresponding month of last year. The customs officials at this port during the past month collected $199,635.73 on imports entering this city from foreign countries. Last July the receipts totalled $142,993.43.

The steamships now calling at this port are bringing larger cargoes than ever before. Last year the Oriental boat brought 200 and 300 ton cargoes, but now the stevedores do not call anything a good cargo unless it is above 800 tons. Victoria has proved such a profitable stopping port that every steamship line running to the Sound or Vancouver has decided to include this place in its list of calls.

The poll taxes collected from the Chinese this month amounted to $299,000. This is slightly lower than the receipts for the month of June, when the figure ran well over the three hundred thousand mark.

NEW WIRELESS LAW IN FORCE.

Port Townsend, Wash., July 31.—The amended wireless law, which provides for two wireless operators on all steamships sailing to sea from American ports after October 1, 1912, has just been published by the department of commerce and labor. In addition to requiring two operators on all passenger vessels carrying 50 or more people, the new law requires that the apparatus shall be operated by an auxiliary power supply, separated from the main power of the steamship, so that wireless communication can be maintained if the main engines of the vessel are out of commission, through flooding of the engine room or other causes.

Failure of the master of a vessel to enforce the amended law is made punishable by a fine of $100. Aside from the amendment the act of June 24, 1910, remains in force.

BILLY KENNEDY WILL BE RIGHT ON JOB IN '13

Not Discouraged by His Showing Last Week—Shawnigan Lake Regatta.

Not a bit discouraged by his showing at the N. P. A. A. O. last week, Billy Kennedy, former sculling champion of the Pacific Northwest, is going right after the title again in 1913. He will work harder than ever and, besides, will send away immediately for a new shell, the one he has now being heavy for smooth water. He doesn't make this an excuse for his disappointing performance last week, admitting that Pfaender's advantage was too great for a little extra weight to make any appreciable difference, but he wants to have the best that's going when he races again in 1913.

The trouble with the J. B. A. A. oarsmen as a whole in the N. P. A. A. O. last week, Kennedy thinks, was their lack of strength. The Scott boys will be big and strong enough in a few years, but right now they are not developed sufficiently to stand the pace set by the Portland and Vancouver huskies.

On Friday night next a meeting of J. B. A. A. oarsmen will be held to arrange for a club regatta, to be held on the Gorge course, and also to discuss arrangements for sending crews to the Shawnigan Lake Athletic Club regatta in August.

tions during play were anxiously suppressed by the umpire, who felt, with the concourse of watchers, the nervous strain under which the players were working.

Around the club house, on the steps, on the uncomfortable nodules of rock which face the courts, on the grandstand seats and the lawn, the watchers sat patiently throughout the entire match, only a few people, either returning from or going out to the distant courts, moving among the seated spectators. Occasional motors and passing cars dropped their small load of smartly-dressed passengers, while the tea-pavilion filled early in the afternoon with the passers-in-and-out, who had never really joined the inner circle of interested spectators. Among these last were seen business men straight from the keen commercial life of the city; school girls in fetching hats who followed the game with frank comments; elderly ladies, whose parasols dissembled their distress when their favorite lost a game; young men ripe from university, grand in the regalia of their college; two or three ministers; smartly-gowned women of all ages and enthusiasms; one or two small boys; veteran players, who recalled their younger days when they were in just as fine form as the players they watched; and odd numbers who come under none of these descriptions. Conspicuous among these was the small dog, which at one time during the day strayed down among the players, and chased the scampering balls with wild excitement expressed in tail and ears. Doggie, however, had short shrift when his mistress saw him, and was ignominiously dragged off to a place less in the eye of the public.

In the further courts the players waged their sets of singles, mixed doubles, or whatever chanced to synchronize with the principal match of the afternoon. To the beginner, unaccustomed to the scrutiny of many eyes, the occasion was delightfully free from that public gaze which is so distressing to the novice, nearly everyone having his attention centered for the time on the great attraction of the hour. Many were heard afterwards expressing great grief at having had to miss watching the exciting combat between the local champion, and the visitor owing to their own match falling at the same time. One or two loyal friends of each player, however, broke away from the central attraction, and followed the play of the sub-luminaries adown the field.

When the great singles competition was at an end, and the contestants had shaken hands in friendly style across the net, there was a rush for the tent where Mrs. Jenner and her assistants were already filling cups of tea in anticipation of the crush of thirsty and hungry visitors. Here blazers and parasols, big hats and straw (sailors, short and tall, scrambled in democratic pandemonium after the friendly cup, which is such an inseparable feature of all such occasions, the hospitably spread tea-table soon being relieved of its burden of cakes and buns. Long before the social chat and trite comment on the match were at an end, and the little groups of two and three had put down their empty cups to turn once more toward the courts where the long shadows were already creeping across the grass, the two players who had for nearly two hours kept up a strenuous argument with the balls, were once more, in different courts, wielding their rackets in defence of other challenges, the crowd on this occasion breaking up into more scattered groups, and dissolving one by one while the matches proceeded.

In the evening the visitors were entertained by the ladies' committee of the Tennis Club to supper, and a delightful dance, which took place at the residence of J. Mara, Pemberton road, kindly lent for the occasion. Here a large number of the seventy-two visitors and the committee of the Tennis Club spent a most enjoyable evening, the dancing proving none the less popular because coming at the end of a day on the courts, the racket and uniform of the tennis enthusiast discarded for the time being in favor of more formal evening dress.

LACROSSE TEAM PLAYS IN WESTMINSTER SATURDAY

This Saturday the Victoria lacrosse team will play in New Westminster. The locals, encouraged by their success to date, are working harder this season than they have for some seasons, and it goes without saying, that they will enter the fray in the best of condition. Recalling the last game between the two teams the Mainlanders don't seem to have a ghost of a show.

On the following Saturday, August 10, the V. A. C. champions play here and that game will be one of the hardest fought ever seen here. On it depends Victoria's chance to win the world's amateur title, for if they lose to Vancouver it will be next to impossible for them to beat the V. A. C.'s out of their title.

Both Victoria and Vancouver are finding Westminster and Fairview easy and wins for Victoria this and the following Saturday will put them on an even footing with the Terminal City team.

MINTO CUP GAMES TO GO ON AGAIN

Westminster and Vancouver Patch Up Their Differences—Drop Claim to Forfeit

Vancouver, July 31.—Arrangements for patching up the differences between Westminster and Vancouver were completed at noon to-day and games will be played for the Minto cup. The question was discussed last evening with Wells Gray, manager of the Westminster team and acting mayor of the Royal City. The plan is to call off all reference to the fact that last Saturday's game was not played and both clubs will drop all claim of forfeit money from each other. That game, if necessary, will be played at the end of the season. Out of the next four games on the schedule three will be played in Vancouver. Con. Jones owes Westminster an exhibition game which was to have been played some time in July, and this is to be played in Westminster during the week of the Royal City's big exhibition. Under these circumstances Con. Jones, who is now in the east, will probably only devote himself to arranging for the coming of the teams to play the Minto cup series in the fall, that is, if Vancouver is successful in retaining the cup.

VISITING BOWLERS RECEIVE RUDE SHOCK ON LOCAL GREEN

Three strangers from Winnipeg visited the green of the Beacon Hill club last week. The visitors from the prairies considered themselves almost the "last word" in bowling prowess. They had won victories over some of the crack rinks of the Ontario Bowling Association, but they met a trio in Victoria who hospitably "took them in." Messrs. Duncan Stewart, Dowswell and Oliphant represented the Beacon Hill club in the entertainment, the final score being 25 to 7 in favor of the Victoria men.

LOCAL OLYMPIC ATHLETES ARE TOURING EUROPE

Hal Beasley, Tommy Gallon and Tom McConnell, three of the B. C. representatives at the Olympic games, have taken advantage of the opportunity while in Europe to see the sights and are touring Germany, France, England and Wales. They will leave Liverpool for home on August 7.

BASEBALL NOTES

Meek didn't get a hit yesterday in four times to bat.

• • •

It looks as if that Hap Myers should break all records for base stealing in the Northwestern League. Yesterday he purloined four, dashing all the way round in the first inning, after punching out a single.

• • •

Ten Million and Bill Goodman, former Victorians, found their batting eyes yesterday.

• • •

The Bees are going to have a rough time of it next week, when they play the Beavers all week in Vancouver.

• • •

After next week Victoria has three successive home weeks, during one of which an entire series of six games will be played here. Tacoma, Portland and Spokane will be the visitors in the order mentioned and the full week will probably be with the Indians.

• • •

For a little fellow Jensen, Tacoma's third baseman, whom Lynch picked off the sand lots, is about the hardest hitter that ever broke into this circuit. He possesses the physique of a Cooney and the slugging ability of a Meek.

Daily Mail. The date is not yet definitely fixed. In any event, the journey will be made in one of Britain's dreadnoughts.

The visit might be the occasion of an imperial demonstration, declares the Mail, and Quebec, out of compliment to the French-Canadians, would be an ideal place. Any reserve that may have been felt by a section of French-Canadians ought to be removed by the speeches which have welcomed Premier Borden and his colleagues in France. France will be the first to encourage them in any direction that will strengthen the naval power of Great Britain, for on that power and upon the army of France rests the foundations of an understanding which is the assurance of peace.

MOUNT BAKER MARATHON.

Bellingham, Wash., July 31.—Postponed from a week ago on account of a terrific blizzard raging in the mountain, the annual Marathon race to the summit of Mount Baker and return will be pulled off to-night. The runners, including Paul Westerlung and other long-distance runners, will leave Bellingham at 11 o'clock to-night, making the run up over the snowfields to the summit in the early hours of the morning.

SUFFERED EVERYTHING

For Years, Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Canadian women are continually writing us such letters as the two following, which are heartfelt expressions of gratitude for restored health:

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of womb and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully for years until I began taking your medicine. I also recommend it for nervousness and indigestion." — Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ont.

Chesterville, Ont. — "I heard your medicines highly praised, and a year ago I began taking them for falling of womb and ovarian trouble.

"My left side pained me all the time and just before my periods which were irregular and painful it would be worse. To sit down caused me pain and suffering and I would be so nervous sometimes that I could not bear to see any one or hear any one speak. Little specks would float before my eyes and I was always constipated.

"I cannot say too much for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, for there are no medicines like them. I have taken them and I recommend them to all women. You may publish this testimonial." — Mrs. STEPHEN J. MARTIN, Chesterville, Ontario, Canada.

TRIMMED WITH CROSS STITCH.

A coarse white linen, trimmed with bands of blue, was used for this little dress.

The one-piece blouse is fitted at the neck by inserting gussets on each side of the neck, which allows the blouse to settle down more smoothly on the shoulders.

The closing is made with crochetted loops and round pearl buttons, design on the front and the sleeves is worked in blue linen. A wide leather belt with a gilt buckle is worn.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

"If there is one thing on earth that I hate," I heard a young person exclaim indignantly the other day, "It's a snob."

The young person had just come into contact with a newly rich friend who had used her wealth as a platform from which to look superciliously down upon some of her old friends. Hence the young person's venom against snobs.

Now I wonder what the snob hater would say if he know that, in my eyes at least, she is very much of a snob.

I think she would say, "The idea! Why, how could I be a snob even if I wanted to? I'm poor as a church mouse."

But she is a snob just the same. You see there are many kinds of snobbery. The snobbery at which the young person became so indignant was that of wealth. Now I think she herself is an intellectual snob.

She has had unusual educational advantages and she certainly uses them as a platform from which to look superciliously down on those who have not been so fortunate. For instance, just the other day I heard her openly express her scorn of people who could enjoy a moving picture show, in the presence of several people who do count that form of amusement among their pleasures. Again, she never sees anyone reading a popular novel without taking occasion to remark that she has no time for such reading, and referring casually to some classical work which she is enjoying.

Tell me now, in the light of this intellectual snobbery, do you think the young person has any right to object because her wealthy friend often drags references to her wealth into the conversation?

I know another woman whom I should call a moral snob. She was born with a heritage of high principles and she has always led an exceptionally sheltered life. As a result she has a very high moral standard and is always ready to look down upon those who are less lofty minded. She will make no allowance for a heritage inferior to her own or for a pressure of temptation which she has never known. Upon anyone who does not accept her moral standard she looks down with a snobbery that is just as blatant as that of the rich woman.

To look down upon someone else for not having what you are fortunate enough to possess—whether the possession is material, mental or moral—surely that is the meaning of snobbery.

And surely the man or woman who is guilty of intellectual or moral snobbery has greater reason to be ashamed because he or she has more reason to know better than the man or woman whose only advantage is that of wealth.

So let's be very, very careful before we condemn snobs that we are not condemning ourselves most heavily.

WAR MINISTER HERE TO-MORROW

HON. SAM HUGHES ON VISIT TO THE WEST

Will Have a Strenuous Day—Canadian Club Luncheon at Noon—Rifle Ranges

Colonel the Honorable Sam Hughes, Canada's Son of Mars, will reach the city to-morrow morning and will at once enter upon a strenuous day's duties. Although he comes to deal with matters martial the colonel will find time to sandwich between his military appointments a relaxation or two which belongs most essentially to the "piping times of peace." One of these will be the Canadian Club luncheon, at which he has kindly consented to deliver an address. This will take place to-morrow at the Alexandra Club at the usual time. Then, of course, during the day he will have to meet local members of the Orange order, because the colonel is one of the stalwarts of the Old Brigade and has abated not one jot or tittle of his Orangeism out of deference even to Messrs. Monk, Pelletier or Nantel, or all the ultramontanes of old Quebec marshalled together.

There are several deputations who have been preparing to meet the gallant war minister of the Dominion. One is a committee of the city council, which will discuss with him the disposition of the Clover Point rifle range. Another delegation will consist of the promoters of the proposed Fusilier regiment, while, of course, there will be a notable foregathering of military men generally in honor of the visit of their chief. But there is another heroic band whose energetic members are to-day limbering up their rhetorical ordnances; lubricating the various parts with the sweet oil of persuasiveness, and getting ready generally to "make the worse appear the better reason." These are the far-sighted gentlemen who have rifle ranges to sell to the government and who will be delighted to accompany the colonel to the various locations and explain their advantages.

Altogether the minister will have a full day, much fuller than Hon. Thos. Crothers or Hon. Frank Cochrane had. Fortunately it happens that the colonel can go through a full day better than either of the others, for he delights in activity, whether in the House of Commons, on the hustings, or in military manoeuvres. It was ever thus, even when he was the most meteoric stickhandler on the Toronto lacrosse team thirty years ago.

PERMITS PASS HALF MILLION DOLLAR MARK

Anticipation That Total of the Building Figures for July Will be $600,000

The six hundred thousand dollar mark will be passed by the time the building inspector's office closes to-night, as at noon the figure had reached the handsome sum of $583,000. The total value of permits for the seven months which end to-day is $5,229,000, or three-quarters of a million a month so far this year. Last July the total was $335,375. Small amounts have been the rule this month, only four large permits having been taken out. They are for the First Congregational church, $45,000; the Wright apartment block, $43,000; the K. of P. hall, North Park street, $35,000, and the Winch building, Fort street, $35,000. The other permits have covered residences chiefly.

The new permits include a church on Fisguard street for the trustees of the Nazarene church, costing $1,950, to be built by J. Langford; alterations to premises on Store street for James Bumesbo, and for two frame residences on Woodland avenue, costing $4,000 each, to be built by James Fairall for J. P. McConnell.

CONSERVATION OF WATER POWERS

SURVEYS CONDUCTED IN CENTRAL INTERIOR

Director of Provincial Inquiry Says Work May Be Commenced on Island

In connection with the examination into the water power resources of British Columbia, for the Conservation Commission of Canada, Arthur V. White, of Toronto, who has charge of the work in British Columbia, has returned to the city and will be in Victoria during the present week in conference with provincial government officials.

Mr. White, speaking of the object in view, said this morning: "The Commission of Conservation of Canada, who have been prosecuting an investigation respecting the natural resources of the country, recently published a comprehensive report entitled 'The Water Powers of Canada.' This report was the first attempt to bring together the extant data relating to water power resources of the Dominion. In this report a promise was made that a special investigation would be conducted with a view of ascertaining more definitely the character and extent of the water powers of British Columbia, and the prairie provinces. Pursuant to this promise the commission commenced field investigation in this province in the summer of 1911, which is being followed up during the present season. Three parties have already been placed in the field to examine the water powers between Ashcroft and the line of the G. T. P. near Fort George."

The power possibilities in the railway belt are being looked into from the office of the department of the interior under the hydrographer, Mr. Carson (who is now in the city on business). Mr. White, continuing, said he was here to consult with the provincial authorities who are co-operating with the commission in this work, and it is understood an examination of the water power possibilities on the west coast of the mainland, and probably on Vancouver Island, will also be made during the present season.

Mr. White says the practice is to have a reconnaisance and individual survey made of the respective streams which promise water power development, consequently an examination of the island should result in an inventory which will set forth all the main water power possibilities on the Island, indicating their respective locations and estimated quantities.

"In the recent report on the water powers of Canada," Mr. White pointed out, "it is instructive to observe that the commission have drawn special attention to the fact that the water power resources of the Dominion which are desirable for development with a view to utilization from an economic standpoint are much less than popularly supposed. Even in the case of Niagara Falls it has been pointed out that the estimated power available has been much exaggerated. The fact that the water powers are less than have been supposed is important to British Columbia because if a corresponding state of affairs exists here the investigation will place the province in a much better position to know the locations and possibilities of the power, which must be most important in connection with the development of the various towns and municipalities, as well as the industries of the province."

FORREST CONVICTED UPON FIVE CHARGES

Man Who Stole Carpenters' Tools Gets Concurrent Sentences From Magistrate

Four more sentences were imposed on Frederick Forrest, whose specialty was carpenters' tools, in the police court this morning, where the remanded cases of Monday against him were continued and disposed of. He received eighteen months' imprisonment on each charge. There were altogether five charges on which he was sentenced and the sentences will all be served concurrently.

Remands were allowed Forrest on Monday for him to get witnesses, but these were of no avail to him this morning. One contradicted him, another could not remember, and the third had no weight with the magistrate. The police recalled the pawnbroker's clerk with whom the accused had been pawning carpenters' tools for several years. He read from his books transactions from May 1, when the accused pawned a level and a saw, and redeemed them on May 9. On May 4 he was back again with more tools and redeemed these on May 9. On May 14 and 16 he had similar transactions, afterwards redeeming the articles. He also had four transactions during June and July.

R. H. Duce, real estate agent, Balmoral block, was fined $30 for speeding on Belleville street last Sunday afternoon, when the rigs, tallyhos and passengers from the boat were leaving the dock. Constable Edens, who laid the information, said accused was going twenty miles an hour. Accused denied the statement and said he was a careful driver who had never had an accident. The prosecution learned from him in cross-examination that he had been fined once before for speeding, and that he had knocked a man down on Fort street and paid $160 damages.

Mr Duce said he paid the money rather than have publicity, as he had a lady in the car at the time, but he stopped the car in four feet on a wet day and the accident had been the fault of the man who was knocked down. The fine was paid.

OREGON SENDS OUT SINGLE TAX AGENT

Alanson M. Himes Interviews Victoria Merchants to Aid Campaign in the South

In the interests of the Multnomah county business and labor tax exemption league, Alanson M. Himes, financial secretary of the league, is visiting Victoria to get information of the tax methods prevailing here, for the benefit of his league on his return to Portland, Ore. He has visited about one hundred business people here, and says he has not yet been told that the Victoria method of taxation is a failure.

His trip to British Columbia is to get the sense of the people so his league can refute the statements he says the large corporations, the banks and the "big land hogs" of Oregon are putting forward against the new taxation methods his league proposes. He visited Vancouver and says he is well satisfied with what he learned there. In both British Columbia cities he has been given letters from the most influential business people which will be published on his return to Portland over the writers' signatures, and will, he believes, do much for the new taxation proposed for Oregon.

Corporations in Oregon, he says, are spending $10,000 per month in their endeavors to refute the statements made by officials of the league of which he is an officer. They are teaching the farmers that single tax will breed decay, and send the people back to barbarism; and that the taxes will be so high to the farmers that it will mean eventual confiscation by the state. "We deny this," he says, "and then they call us cranks and up-in-the-air theorists." The only people he has met who have not been enthusiastic in his proposals are, he says, the large land owners, who of course do not want land taxation.

The Multnomah county plan, says Mr. Himes, includes a graduated tax on land and natural resources privately owned, and valued over $10,000, and in that respect is different from the Henry George platform.

Mr. Himes will be in Victoria for some days, and will continue his work of gathering information during his stay.

"HIGH STANDARDS. MODERATE PRICES"

WOMEN DOCTORS.

Demand for Female Practitioners Continues to Increase.

The demand for women in medicine has become so urgent and women have so clearly defined their aptitude as physicians that opposition to their entering the medical profession has died a natural death in most civilized countries, men doctors, not general public sentiment, interposing at this late day. In America the woman doctor is already sure of herself, says an educational organ.

In England the hostility to her finds expression only in such oblique and blassed outbursts as that lately indulged in by Sir Almroth Wright, who was promptly silenced by physicians of wider outlook, notably Sir Victor Horsley. In Germany, most insistent upon limiting woman's sphere, there are now nearly two hundred licensed women doctors. German women have become much interested, too, in dentistry, a profession in which American methods have long set the standard. Last year 60 German women were officially licensed to practice dentistry. Both in medicine and dentistry Germany is ready for more women, according to the results of an inquiry recently instituted by the University of Berlin.

In both Germany and England the opposition to women lawyers continues strong. In England women are not admitted to the bar, though it is claimed that recent agitation of the subject brings their administration notably nearer. In Germany women are not encouraged to take jurist or national economic courses at the universities. In spite of the discouragement, about twenty, who have taken these courses, seem to have "made good" in using their degrees in one capacity or another.

An estimate recently made places the fire losses of London, England, for 1911 at £789,000. This compares with £602,100 for 1910.

DISCOVERS VACCINE FOR TYPHOID FEVER

Experiments With Toxicant Inoculation Advanced Several Degrees

A few weeks ago the discovery was announced by Prof. Metchnikoff, the head of the Pasteur Institution in Paris of a new and important vaccine to be used against typhoid fever, and since then the question of vaccines and anti-toxins has been brought into general prominence at medical gatherings all over the world. Leading physicians in Great Britain and the United States and elsewhere have been engaged in experiments, directed towards the confirmation of the discovery.

This newly discovered vaccine is different from all others used in typhoid, being prepared with living bacilli, which were formerly considered unsafe.

Under Prof. Metchnikoff's method, living bacilli are distributed in water that has been impregnated with certain substances found in the serum of animals immune to the disease. The vaccine is then injected into the blood in two or three injections, 500,000,000 living bacilli being given in the first dose and a billion in each subsequent dose.

Professor Metchnikoff asserts that the new vaccine is not very virulent, but other experts claim that the experiments have not been carried far enough to determine positively whether there is any danger or not.

The new substance has been injected into chimpanzees without harmful effects, and a few months ago two persons were vaccinated with live bacilli at the Pasteur Institute in Paris. Since their safe recovery the number of people who have submitted to the experimental safe-guard has reached fifty.

Some doctors held that this is not a sufficient number, to prove the method to be harmless, even though no bad results have been shown. The announcement of Prof. Metchnikoff's use of living bacilli for typhoid came shortly after a violent attack was made on vaccination by George Bernard Shaw, who in his usually picturesque phraseology declared that vaccination now that its scientific mask is torn off is revealed as a quaintly horrible reversion to the most degraded and horrible forms of tribal ritual.

Cholera, bubonic plague, tetanus, diphtheria, hydrophobia and meningitis are among the diseases for which vaccines and serums are prepared and while many of the bacilli have been weakened through long culture still others have retained all their deadly vigor. It has been customary to use old and somewhat weakened cultures for the preparation of certain vaccines but occasionally it is necessary to experiment with the germs in their most virulent form—in fact typhoid vaccines have been composed of dead germs of a fully virulent character as well as of old non-virulent strains. The latter gives a typical reaction on the substances in which it is grown, such as broth and nutrient agar, and when injected produces the hostile, reactionary substances or "antibodies" in large quantities. The killing process is accompanied by a grouping together of the germs, and this clumping and precipitation is the result of the invisible, hostile substance formed by nature in actual typhoid and after vaccination with typhoid bacilli. In both cases the germs, dead or alive, course through the blood until their presence causes the formation of this substance. In the case of vaccination, however, the patient usually feels nothing but slight discomfort and lassitude.

The first step in preparing diphtheria antitoxin is procuring a culture of the bacteria which is injected into the blood of a horse. At first the injections are given in small doses, great care being taken to see that the horse is free from all disease. At intervals of a few days gradually increased doses are given, the effect of which is to make the animals immune to the disease toxin. The treatment is continued until enormous doses can be given, half a litre or more at a time without ill effect, when the horse is known to be thoroughly immunized and his blood is highly charged with the antitoxin, this is used for the cure of human patients. A horse under "treatment" will show all the symptoms of diphtheria when inoculated with a diphtheria culture.

After the horse has been thoroughly immunized he is bled. The blood is placed in glass tubes plugged with disinfected cotton and allowed to stand until the straw colored blood serum can be decanted off and a preservative added. In the case of antitoxins for diphtheria and lockjaw it is standardized in antitoxic units before it is put up in glass bulbs or syringe containers for use.

According to the same authorities there are many diseases where vaccines of live germs are used, and Pasteur was the first scientist to use them. If a living germ is kept at a higher temperature than is natural to it the bacillus becomes "attenuated," giving only a light and local attack of the disease, and he told how this is the principle of many of the living cultures that are used.

CABOT ANNIVERSARY.

Montreal, July 31.—The delegation of Bristol citizens who are coming to Canada to attend the Cabot anniversary at Halifax, August 14 and 15, are due to arrive in Montreal this evening on the Canadian Northern liner Royal Edward. They consist of the Lord Mayor of Bristol, with the lady mayoress and Miss Willis; Mr. and Mrs. G. Paliser Martin and Mr. Henry Rissley. Mr. Rissley has taken great interest in promoting trade between Canada and the port of Bristol, and was a member of the Bristol delegation which toured Canada two years ago. Sir Wm. McKenzie is also on the Royal Edward.

The value of the minerals raised in the United Kingdom during 1910 amounted to £122,106,582, an increase of £2,728,642 as compared with 1909.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT ASSESSMENT

FINAL ASSESSMENT VICTORIA WEST ARBITRATION

TAKE NOTICE that the Corporation of the City of Victoria intends to pass a Local Improvement Assessment By-law upon real property included in the official map of that portion of the City of Victoria known as Victoria West for the monies required to pay compensation directed to be paid under Chapter 46 of the Acts of the Legislature of British Columbia for the year 1907 as amended by Chapter 47 of the Acts of the said Legislature for the year 1909, and all costs, fees and other expenses to which the said Corporation has been put and had to pay in and about the arbitration proceedings authorized thereunder or incidental thereto, assessing upon the properties in the schedule hereinafter mentioned the sums of money for the length of time set opposite each said lot as follows:

SEWER SYSTEM FOR PRINCE RUPERT

Recommendations of Engineer Mason Adopted By The City Council

Prince Rupert, July 31.—An exhaustive report on the proposed sewer system for the city was read in council the other night from Acting City Engineer Mason. Mr. Mason recommended the deep level system of sewers to the city as against a proposed five foot level system not intended to serve basements. In recommending a deep level system, however, the engineer warned the council against adopting any fixed depth for their sewer system, as there are lots of greatly varying depth in the city and if a depth "so many feet below basement level" were taken it might bind the city to tremendous expenditure in some districts. Double and triple basements can be put in in some parts, and sewer system might be demanded for the lowest basement.

Ther can be no doubt of the attitude of the citizens regarding the sewer level. All are in favor of deep sewers. They consider that the needs of the business section of the city for sewers will be very great in a very short time, and that the city will certainly need business basements. Those who know the townsite best are most thoroughly agreed on this.

There was something of an appeal by the mayor to various wealthy lot-owners in the city, and the concensus of opinion was sweepingly in favor of a deep sewer policy on the lines recommended by Acting City Engineer Mason. The council adopted his report.

Engineer Mason's plans provide for a system of concrete modern sewers, egg-shaped in section, according to the latest ideas, and calculated to carry off all surface water as well as sewage. At present Prince Rupert has a sewer separate from its surface water culverts. The sewer system is not extensive. It was put into the business section by the provincial government before the city was largely inhabited, and it is far from satisfactory. In fact, much of the present sewer discussion centres about a serious fracture in a long series of sewer pipes on Second avenue which is causing trouble continually. The city is in a quandary about the repair of these pipes or the alternative of reconstructing the sewer on the new deep level system. There is not at present money to do any deep level sewer improvements, and to botch up the government sewer is likely to be almost as costly at the time, and certainly more costly in the long run.

Notification has been received that it is possible to reduce the rate for power in the city of Prince Rupert by 50 per cent. The present rate is 9 cents per k. w. hour. It will in future be possible for the city to supply power at 4½ cents per k. w. hour. The city council authorized the reduction. A proposal to reduce the cost of electric light also was not put into practice, but may be taken up later. There is a growing demand throughout the city both for light and for power. The large contracts in hand at present are likely to use power in increasing quantity.

TO HELP NATURE SHED A BAD COMPLEXION

(From The Family Physician.)

Beauty devotees are enthusiastic over the beautifying qualities of mercolized wax. Perhaps nothing discovered within recent years accomplishes so much, so quickly, without harm, without detaining one indoors, and at such small expense. The principal reason for its wonderful merit is that it works in harmony with physiological laws. Instead of hiding, or "curing" complexion defects, it removes them. The wax actually takes off the aged, faded, sallow or blotchy cuticle, gently, gradually, causing no inconvenience. It is Nature's way of renewing complexions. When the natural process is retarded because of deficient circulation or nerve tone, mercolized wax comes to the rescue and hastens the skin shedding. The new complexion which appears is a natural one, youthful, healthy, exquisitely beautiful. If you've never tried mercolized wax, get an ounce of it at the drug store, use at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning.

Another natural beautifying treatment—for wrinkled, flabby skin—is to bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This is remarkably effective.

F. W. Dyson, astronomer royal at Greenwich observatory, in his report submitted at the annual visitation to the observatory, said with regard to sunspots that last year the mean daily spotted area was less than one-fourth of that in 1910. The mean temperature for last year was 19 degrees above the average for the sixty-five years 1847 to 1905.

DIAMOND DRILLING IN SIMILKAMEEN

B. C. Copper Company Has Three Machines At Work Will Increase Number

Phoenix, July 31.—The British Columbia Copper Company has a force of about 60 men employed in the development of the claims which it has under bond at Voight's camp on Copper Mountain, about 10 miles southwest of Princeton, and expects to increase this force largely in the near future.

Active work is at present being done, says the Hedley Gazette, on the 14, Ada B., Silver Dollar, Triangle Fraction, Red Eagle, and on the main working tunnel which is to crosscut a number of ore dykes east of Voight's camp.

Three diamond drills are used at present. Arrangements are being made for operating three additional machines, making six in all. This will probably be the largest number of diamond drills that have ever been in use in any one camp at the same time in the province.

The ore bodies at Voight's camp lie in a series of parallel dykes, running nearly north and south. Alternating with the ore bearing dykes are a series of porphyry dykes, of varying widths up to several hundred feet; these porphyry dykes bear a most important relation to the occurrence of the ore.

There are some 20 of these ore bearing dykes in all, and all show values in copper, though of course all are not of working grade. The ore varies from a rather basic or neutral character on the eastern side.

MAY EXTEND BOUNDARIES.

Nelson, July 31.—If the city will guarantee to spend about $45,000 on public utilities in Fairview, the Hume Addition and suburbs to the south of the city and will take steps to provide these districts with proportionate representation on the council, Ald. Houston, chairman of the Greater Nelson committee, believes that property owners in the suburbs will be willing to become a part of Nelson.

Provided that suburban property can come to terms with the council it is probable that an agreement for the expenditure of the money and for the proportionate representation will be incorporated in the by-law which will be necessary before the city's boundaries can be extended as proposed.

Ald. Houston said that he thought that not only Fairview and the Hume Addition but also the thickly populated section north of the reservoir and some parts of the northern suburbs should be included in the annexation project.

Hume Addition school district has an assessed property value of $450,000, declared the alderman; and if the "Greater Nelson" movement became effective the city's borrowing powers would be increased by $90,000. He believed that the city might well raise debentures for half this sum and expend the money entirely on the new sections.

If the annexation plan were carried to success the population of the city would be increased by about one-third and he believed that the new districts would be entitled to proportionate representation on the council.

Ald. Houston's proposal seemed to meet with the approval of the council, the mayor suggesting that it might be advisable to do away with wards entirely and elect nine or six aldermen at large. Ald. Houston thought six aldermen sufficient.

It was pointed out by W. E. Wasson, city clerk, that it could be specified in the by-law admitting the suburbs to the municipality that a certain sum be raised for improvements in those districts so that the property owners now living outside would be assured that the money would be spent in their districts. Representation on the council and other matters could also be included in the provisions of the by-law.

SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Vernon, July 31.—A shocking case of suicide occurred early the other morning in the rooming annex of the Vernon Hotel, over Cameron's old store, when Cecil E. Ozanne ended his life by putting a shut gun to his mouth and blowing off the top of his head.

An inquest was held by Dr. Morris, the district coroner.

It appears that Ozanne had been ill the previous day, and had kept to his room most of the day. In the evening he was around town with A. H. Wainwright, and settled up a few bills that he owed. He then gave evidence of being in a deranged mental state, and according to Mr. Wainwright's testimony he thought he heard imaginary persons talking about him. He complained that somebody was trying to drive him out of town. He had a few drinks of beer, but was not intoxicated. He retired to his room about 11.30, and at 4 o'clock the occupants of the adjoining rooms were startled by the noise of a shot. Ranklin, the night watchman of the hotel, and Wainwright, climbed over the partition and found the unfortunate man on the bed, partly dressed, his whole face and most of the head above the mouth had been blown off by the shot gun, which was found between his knees.

The jury brought in the following verdict: "We find that the deceased, Cecil Edwin Ozanne, came to his death, on the 19th day of July, 1912, in the city of Vernon, from the effects of a gun shot wound, fired by his own hand, during a fit of temporary insanity."

The deceased had been a resident of Vernon for about five years. He was about 35 years of age, and unmarried. During the past year or so he had worked for the city as a laborer, principally in connection with sewer construction.

TO IMPROVE WATER SYSTEM.

Nanaimo, July 31.—The ratepayers of Nanaimo voted aye on Monday on the proposal to authorize the raising by way of loan the sum of $50,000 for the purpose of laying an eighteen-inch water main from the No. 1 reservoir to a point within the city limits and to improve the distribution system within the city. The total vote cast was 358 out of a total registration of 1,186, the vote resulting as follows: For, 281; against, 68; rejected, 9. As the by-law required a three-fifths of the total vote it thus carried by a majority of 65 votes.

NELSON STREET LIGHTING.

Nelson July 30.—Nelson's picturesque but antiquated method of illumination by means of strings of small globes strung across the streets received its death blow as far as main thoroughfares are concerned at Monday night's meeting of council when orders were given for material for installing three ball Tungsten ornamental standards. The chief streets will all be illuminated in this manner. The improvement is being made on the frontage tax basis, the city paying one-quarter of the total cost.

FOUND DEAD.

New Westminster, July 31.—Shortly after 1 o'clock Monday morning the city police received a 'phone message that an Indian woman was lying dead in South Westminster, and Constables Burrows and Anderson, on going to the place described, found the body of Mrs. Anderson, an Indian woman of 84 years of age, lying on a bench covered up with blankets. It appears that the woman was taken sick on Saturday afternoon, and a fisherman gave her a drink, assisted her to the bench and covered her up.

In some recently discovered ancient Egyptian tombs, dating back before the age of Menes—that is, about 5,000 B. C.—linen has been found in the coffins as clean and fresh as if it had just come from the loom.

The output of coal in 1910 in the United Kingdom was 264,433,028 tons, and the value £108,377,567, showing an increase over 1909 of 658,716 tons, and of £2,102,067 respectively.

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN

BY DR. FRANK CRANE

A good deal has been said by moralizers one way or another, by preachers and makers of moral books, and others whose joy it is to list "virtues and their opposite vices," about the dishonest merchant.

But what about the dishonest customer?

And, if the truth were known, is it not the cheating customers that make the cheating merchants?

The grocer who puts the big strawberries on the top of the box, the milkman who waters milk, the haberdasher who lies about its being all wool, have become classic.

In the first place I do not believe such sinners are as common as we imagine. And in the second place, where they do exist, they are but the result of the disposition to cheat on the part of those who buy their goods.

The desire to get something for nothing, to procure goods less than the regular price, in other words to find a "bargain," what is it when you analyze it, but a lurking wish to cheat? Why should you not pay for a thing you want what it is worth? Why begrudge the middleman his profit?

"There are very honest people," says Anatole France, "who do not think they have had a bargain unless they have cheated the merchant."

STILL IN ABEYANCE.

Nanaimo, July 31.—At the weekly meeting of the city council Ald. Busby asked if there was anything doing in the way of a tramway.

In reply Mayor Shaw stated he had nothing further to report, the whole thing being a kind of Will-o-the-Wisp affair.

Ald. Cavalsky remarked Nanaimo would have a tramway when the B. C. Electric got ready to build one.

Mayor Shaw was of the opinion the B. C. Electric would not be ready for some time.

TRAGEDY IN THEATRE.

Amateur Othello, Jealous of Iago, Kills Wife Who Played Desdemona.

Lisbon, July 31.—A dramatic tragedy was enacted here Monday night. An amateur performance of "Othello" was given by persons prominent in society, and a Porto Alegre banker named Pedro Silva, 48 years old, played the part of Othello. Having been informed that his wife, Dolores, 18 years old, who was playing the role of Desdemona, had at some time proved unfaithful with a military student, Autunez, who was playing the part of Iago, he availed himself of the murder scene to plunge the dagger into his wife's heart, killing her instantly. He afterwards stabbed Antunez in the chest. The large audience was thrown into a panic and rushed entrances.

Silva became insane after killing his wife and wounding his rival. Antunez is reported to be in a serious condition and may not survive.

VETERAN VERSUS THE CHAMPION

BIG TENNIS MATCH ON THIS AFTERNOON

Schwengers and Foulkes Are Now Playing—This Morning's Events

The courts of the Victoria Tennis Club this morning were very damp and difficult for playing, yet very good progress was made in the various competitions and much excellent tennis was witnessed.

Both the finalists for this afternoon's encounter, Capt. Foulkes and B. P. Schwengers had a little pleasant practice in the open singles, and managed to win very comfortably without putting themselves to undue exertion. The captain was opposed to Andrews, who made some good shots, but who was beaten by more scientific placing. The captain was not very happy during the first set which he won 6-4, but ran away with the second quite easily, 6-0.

Bernie Schwengers found no necessity to extend himself to any great extent in his match with Macrae. The latter could do nothing with the champion's "cut" drive and found himself continually out of position. Both Schwengers and Captain Foulkes were very fit this morning and in excellent condition for the battle for the championship late this afternoon.

Cardinall, the Vancouver crack, found the Californian, Fottrell, a trifle too much for him. The latter stands six feet three in height and has the weirdest, deadliest service in the tournament. The ball swerves in one direction while in full flight and breaks in the opposite direction the instant it touches the ground. His first service whenever he gets it in, is almost unstoppable. Cardinall was right off his game this morning and gave no evidences of his real ability, while the Californian was in rare form and won, 6-1, 6-2.

The best match in the open doubles was that between Evans and Jukes, the Vancouver pair, and Stone and Leou. The Mainlanders were in excellent form and combined wonderfully. As they are playing in the finals of the international doubles it looks as if they may possibly carry off two championships when they return to the Terminal City. This morning they won in two straight sets against a very good pair and then they had always something to spare. Both play splendidly at the net. This morning's results are appended in full:

Open Doubles, Gentlemen—2nd Round.

F. T. Marshall and H. G. Garrett beat W. S. Marshall and Durant, 6-0, 6-0.

Evans and Jukes beat Stone and Leou, 6-3, 6-2.

HARRIMAN'S ESTATE.

Albany, N. Y., July 31.—The proceedings attending the appraisal of the estate of E. H. Harriman are being pushed with all possible speed by the state officials in charge of the tax department, and it is expected that the work will be completed in September. The estate is one of four that will pay large sums into the state treasury within a few months. The aggregate value of these estates is considerably more than $200,000,000. The Harriman property will probably have a valuation of nearly $70,000,000, while Col. John Jacob Astor's will exceed $100,000,000. The other two large estates are those of Isidor Strauss and Benjamin Guggenheim, both victims of the Titanic disaster.

ESQUIMALT COMPANY AND OPENING PAVING

Peaceful Settlement of Peremptory Action of Company

City Engineer Rust met Engineer W. H. Lubbe this morning over the unexpected incident at Craigflower road yesterday, when men employed by the Esquimalt Waterworks Company broke into paving on that road, which has been in course of construction for some time, in connection with water services. The main from Goldstream, the joints of which have been in course of recaulking for some months, passes under the paving for some distance near Burleith, and there the incident happened. The city engineer sent a policeman to the spot, and the work was stopped.

The Esquimalt Company acted after only a few hours' notice conveyed to the mayor and council, the notice of intention to interfere being conveyed in a letter from Mr. Lubbe to the council read on Monday night. It was referred to the city engineer to stipulate conditions. The act under which the notice was issued (The Esquimalt Water Works Extension Act, 1892) says in clause seven: Before the company shall proceed to break up any street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel within the limits of the corporation of the city of Victoria they shall give three days' notice to the mayor and council of said city of such intention, and when the company shall have opened or broken up any road or pavement or any street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel they shall with all convenient speed complete the work for which the same was opened or broken up, and shall carry away all rubbish or debris occasioned thereby, and shall at all times leave the streets in as good and passable condition as they were before they were opened or broken up by the company."

It is understood an arrangement will be reached relative to future work. When a prosecution was launched against the Victoria Gas Company recently for disturbing the paving on Blanchard avenue, they contended in the courts that being incorporated prior to the incorporation of the city in 1862, they were independent of municipal control, and the point has never been finally determined.

OBITUARY RECORD

The funeral of the late Hans Christenson, who died on Sunday last at the Jubilee hospital, will take place under the auspices of the Bricklayers' Union on Saturday afternoon next at 3 o'clock. Further particulars will be announced later.

The funeral of the late Charles Bailey took place yesterday at 1 p.m., from the Hanna-Thomson parlors, Rev. J. B. Warnicker officiating. The following acted as pallbearers: Messrs. R. McConnell, J. S. Kerr, J. A. Lambert, Geo. S. Lyons, F. W. McLellan and Dr. John E. Lyons.

The death took place at Kent, Wash., on July 23, of Fred Dean, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dean. He was 25 years of age, and had been ill for some months. He was an active worker in the Methodist church. Many friends of the family live in this city.

W. W. Northcott, city assessor, received news yesterday of the death of his brother, J. R. Northcott, who passed away on the 22nd inst. at Toronto. The deceased man, who was 68 years of age, was an old resident of British Columbia, and came here 27 years ago, shortly afterwards opening a business in Vancouver, and later being a councillor on the Vancouver city council. Ill-health compelled Mr. Northcott to return east, however, and for the last several years he has made his home at Toronto, where he is survived by his widow, one son and three daughters, all living in Toronto; a sister at Syracuse, N. Y.; another at Alliston, Ont., and two brothers, W. W. and J. A., both of this city. Mr. Northcott as a young man went to America at the time of the Civil War, and cast his fortunes with the northern army from 1861 to the end of 1864, enlisting at Albany, N. Y., in the Ninth New York heavy artillery, and later being drafted into the infantry ranks and remaining in service to the close of the campaign.

SEEKING LINE OF DEMARCATION

WHERE SHALL WHARF BOUNDARY LINES END?

Government Officials and City Representatives Confer on Foreshore Line

In order to arrive at an understanding with the department of marine and fisheries as to the line along the harbor beyond which the improvement works contemplated by various private owners at Lime and West Bays shall not be permitted, a conference was held this morning at the city engineer's office between Col. W. P. Anderson, chief engineer of the Dominion department of marine and fisheries, who is on the coast on departmental business, Capt. Robertson, the agent, and C. C. Worsfold, district engineer for the department of public works, and Mayor Beckwith and City Engineer Rust representing the city.

In the past the city council in passing on recommendations to Ottawa has been largely influenced by the suggestions of the Inner Harbor Association, which drew up a proposed line beyond which waterfront property should not extend, and the associations' ideas have been generally accepted, although recently there has been a tendency to refer such applications to the special joint committee of five bodies, of which Alderman Cuthbert is chairman, for an opinion.

If it is possible to establish a definite line which will offer no impediment to navigation, the difficulties of the past will disappear, and in future wharves will be limited to a final boundary line in the harbor.

The representatives talked the matter over to-day, and it is understood good results will accrue from the conference. Until the department of public works has taken action on the Coste report, particularly as it effects the Inner harbor, there was great reluctance to grant any further concessions to property owners along the front, lest vested rights should be created which it would be difficult to extinguish when a final scheme is approved.

COLLECTED MONEY FROM GAMBLERS

Over $2,000,000 Alleged to Have Been Paid to New York Police

New York, July 31.—Every trail and lead is to be followed persistently, no matter where it ends, by District-Attorney Whitman to learn by whom $2,400,000 graft money, said to have been divided, was received.

"Bald Jack" Rose, whose confession put Police Lieutenant Becker behind the bars, accused of the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal, has told the public prosecutor that this huge sum of money was obtained by police blackmail from gamblers and disorderly houses, and that Lieut. Becker told him that the money went to four police officials.

The police prosecutor has arranged to keep the grand jury in session all summer to investigate the relations between the gamblers and the police which is, in the opinion of the district-attorney, a matter of more public importance than the Rosenthal case.

District-Attorney Whitman purposes to break up the relations said to exist between the gamblers and the police if he has to protect every man involved in the murder of Rosenthal except those who fired the shots.

Whether Lieut. Becker will care to avail himself of an opportunity to make his own position easier by telling the prosecutor the recipients of the graft money which "Bald Jack" Rose said he turned over to Becker is doubtful.

The annual collection of $2,400,000 of protection money was equally divided, according to the story told by Rose, among four high officials of the police department, one of them being Becker. Mr. Whitman, it is learned, has the names of three other police officials whom Rose has named.

One of the officials, it was learned, holds a position at headquarters and is in a strict sense a civilian employee. The name of a former prominent city official has been brought to the attention of the district-attorney as being closely connected with the graft system.

Rose said he had collected gambling tribute for months and he promised the district attorney that he would obtain for him the rates paid by gambling houses, make a tabulation of what these receipts amounted to monthly and yearly and how the money was handled. There were other collectors besides Rose. This is the assumption of the district attorney, who hopes to identify them. Becker, Rose said, gave him liberal commissions for his work.

"Becker told me that he was the prince of the police department," Rose said. "He paid me liberally out of my collections, but I was never able to keep what I got. I was a fool gambler, and gambled it all away.

Part of the business between the gamblers and police, the district attorney was told, was boldly done through choques, although his efforts to secure evidence in this work, however, have proved fruitless.

SHEEP INDUSTRY ON THE ISLAND

HISTORICAL NOTES ON BREEDING IN VICINITY

Department Bulletin Shows Wool Reaches Market in Poor Condition

The sheep raising industry on Vancouver Island unfortunately has not reached the high measure of development which circumstances might reasonably anticipate, and the causes which have contributed to this result are indicated in the bulletin just been issued from Ottawa on sheep husbandry in Canada. The treatise has been prepared by J. B. Spencer, B.S.A., the editor of the publications branch, with the object of encouraging a revival of the industry, which Dr. Rutherford rightly says "has not been progressing as rapidly as might be wished, especially in view of the fact that many districts in Canada are eminently fitted for the profitable pursuit of this branch of animal husbandry."

Indians Raid Flocks.

The report says, speaking of the history of the introduction of sheep to this island: "On the establishment of a Hudson's Bay post on the present site of Victoria, B. C., at the southern end of Vancouver Island, in 1843, farms were located by the two above companies and sheep brought from Fort Nisqually to stock them. These sheep were principally of the Merino, Southdown and Leicester blood, and were the foundation of the sheep-breeding industry in this province. They did very well on these farms situated near and within the present boundaries of the city of Victoria, and in 1849 numbered several hundred head. They suffered somewhat from the depredations of panthers, wolves and bears, and occasionally from vagrant dogs. The sheep were herded by armed Indian shepherds in the day time and corralled at night. Indians from early times showed their appreciation of a change of diet from fish and venison by occasionally raiding flocks. This love of mutton made a little British Columbia history in the early fifties, when a warlike band of Indians swooped down from their village a short distance up the coast of Victoria, and raided a flock, murdered the shepherd, and carried off a number of sheep. Their village was visited by a British gunboat from Victoria some time afterwards and the murderers captured and hanged on a tree nearby. Some time after sheep were first brought to Victoria by the Hudson's Bay Company a number of small private flocks were established near Victoria by employees. The Hudson's Bay and Fuget Sound companies imported improved rams from Great Britain, and thus raised the quality of the flocks. During this time some sheep were also imported from the Hawaiian Islands. The first importations of pure-bred sheep by private individuals was in the early seventies, the first being Leicesters from Oregon, soon followed by Southdowns from Ontario. About this time a number of flocks were established on the islands in the Gulf of Georgia, and some trade in sheep begun with the American possessions in that region. For some years after the settlement of the San Juan Islands' dispute by arbitration, when that island was ceded to the United States, considerable smuggling of sheep and lambs was carried on among these islands.

Quality Improves.

"Since that time the quality of the sheep has been greatly improved, and several first quality flocks have been established principally on the coast, and scattered over the lower mainland and upper country, a few farm flocks are to be found. Range flocks are not nearly as numerous as might be expected, due largely, no doubt, to the fact that sheep are not allowed to pasture on public ranges in cattle districts. On many of the islands where sheep do particularly well a law passed in 1888 limits the number to be grazed on crown lands. This, coupled with the growth of the fruit and dairying industries, has reduced the number of sheep kept. The high prices for farm produce, such as hay and grain, and the rapid growth of dairying along the rich bottom lands of the Fraser valley, have kept the sheep industry from developing as it should, though of late both breeding and feeding are being followed more than formerly. The rich pastures of the coast and on Vancouver Island make this business always a safe and profitable one.

"The consignments arriving at British Columbia ports from Washington are composed of mixed lots consisting of about half wethers and the balance full-mouthed ewes. They weigh on being landed at Victoria or Vancouver about 100 pounds each. Freight from the ranges to the docks is about 50 cents per head and the duty is $1.12 per 100 pounds. Thus the local man has an advantage of $1.62 per head in competing with imported stuff. The price of these sheep on the coast docks ranges from 5 to 7 cents per pound. They sell in the market at from 13 to 16 cents per pound by the carcass. Australian mutton sells at 11 to 12 cents per pound by the carcass.

Small Flocks Best.

"On Vancouver Island and the islands of the Gulf of Georgia the keeping of flocks of from twenty-five to four hundred head has always been a profitable business. On account of the rainy winters the medium and short wool breeds have taken precedence over the long wools, although the latter also do very well. The foundation of nearly all the flocks in this region are Down grades, on which are used Shropshire, Southdown, Oxford Down, Leicester and Cotswold rams. Owing to the mild winters, comparatively little winter feeding or shelter is provided, in the worst winter only a few weeks being necessary. More liberal winter feeding could be done generally with advantage and would give good returns. In the island districts for the production of mutton the flockmasters aim to have the lambs arrive in April and May, when the grass is good. For the lamb market they come during January, February and March. The yield here, as under farm conditions generally, runs from 100 to 150 per cent and upwards. Ram lambs are usually castrated at from three to four weeks old.

"Growing lambs for market is one of the most profitable lines of the flockmaster here. The lambs are usually disposed of when weighing dressed from 25 pounds for very early, to 65 pounds for late summer and fall. These lambs bring from $4 to $6 per head, with a brisk demand for anything in good condition.

"The pure-bred flocks are found principally on Vancouver Island and the islands of the Gulf of Georgia, the districts tributary to the Fraser river and in the Okanagan valley, probably fifty flocks in all, and with from five to fifty in a flock. The breeds represented are Cotswold, Leicester, Lincoln, Shropshire, Southdown, Oxford Down, Hampshire, Suffolk, Dorset and Tunis. Prices of pure-bred ram lambs range from about ten to thirty-five dollars; yearlings from fifteen to forty; ewe lambs from ten to twenty-five each. The breeders are not able to supply the demand which is good more especially for high class stock.

Wool Clip.

"The average wool clip of coast sheep is from 5 to 7 pounds for the small breeds, while small flocks of the heavier breeds will sometimes average 10 pounds. Further inland it runs from 6 to 10 pounds. On the ranges shearing costs 8 cents per head, and from 6 to 8 pounds of wool of good quality is the average. In the early years of the sheep industry in British Columbia wool brought 30 cents per pound. The general quality of the wool is good, but it is often sent to market in poor condition, containing foreign matter of various kinds, which causes a shrinkage. Sheep skins bring from 30 cents to $1, depending on quality and length of wool. As the industry develops a woollen factory would improve the conditions of the wool market.

Panthers Troublesome.

"In this province the sheep industry suffers in a greater or less degree from dogs and other predatory animals, such as timber wolves, bears and lynx, but the damage done by these animals is comparatively small. Panthers and coyotes are the greatest source of loss. On the smaller islands of the Gulf of Georgia there are no predatory animals. On Vancouver Island panthers give the most trouble. The government has increased the bounty to $15 per head, which should keep them in check. In the interior the bands kept under range conditions have to be corralled at night and herded by day to protect them from the attacks of panthers, wolves and coyotes. Panthers are rare, and wolves but rarely attack a flock, but coyotes, despite the bounty of $2.00 per head, seem to be almost as plentiful as ever. In some large flocks the loss runs as high as five per cent. So far coyote-proof wire fences have not been used in British Columbia, but have been successfully used in some of the American states.

The opportunities offered by the sheep industry in many parts of the province are excellent. The market is first-class at present, and when we consider that the vast mineral, timber, fisheries and agricultural resources are just beginning to be developed, with available agricultural land small in proportion to the area of the province, the prospects for the future of the sheep industry seem bright indeed."

Entertainments in London are attended by 200,000 persons every Sunday.

"Stop Taking Drugs"

Says The Doctor

Don't ruin your stomach by doping it with poisons. Drugs are made to sell, not to cure.

The first impulse of a man who finds himself ailing in any way is to take some kind of medicine. Doesn't matter what kind, just as long as it gives him temporary relief. That's where the danger lies. The action of drugs is like that of whisky. Whisky will cause a man to "brace up," feel strong and full of vim for a few hours, but when the effect of the alcohol passes away, the old stupid feeling returns worse than ever.

Now, drugs will give you relief for a few hours, but the trouble returns as soon as the drug loses its power to stimulate. Every minute that drugs give relief they are busily engaged in doing harm. They destroy the delicate lining of the stomach and weaken the nerves. They mix with the digestive juices, causing poor digestion and constipation. Every part of your vitals that is affected by drugs is weakened by them.

There's only one way to cure any ailment. That way is to assist Nature. Drugs don't do that. Nature is the best doctor, and sometimes will accomplish a cure in spite of drugs. Then drugs get the credit for what Nature alone did.

The help Nature needs is electricity. It's the power that runs the machinery of your body and most all ailments are due to the failure or breaking down of some vital part, the stomach, liver, kidneys, heart or nerves. The reason any organ fails to work properly is because it hasn't the power—electricity. Restore this force where it is needed and pain and disease will disappear. I do this with Electro-Vigor.

Electro-Vigor is an electric body battery, applied while you sleep. It sends a stream of electric life into every nerve and tissue of the body, building up vitality and strength, and removing the cause of disease.

Electro-Vigor does not shock or blister. The only sensation, is a mild, soothing glow.

Electro-Vigor is not an electric belt. It never needs charging, for it makes its own power continuously.

Electro - Vigor has proven a great success. It has cured people all over the West, whom drugs had failed to benefit.

• • • • • •

Dear Sirs,—I was troubled with my stomach, kidneys, rheumatism under right shoulder and poor memory and I can say that I am greatly benefited by Electro-Vigor. It is the only relief from drugs and brings the system pure and clean of all poison. Thanking you for your kindness.

NEW BANK FOR CHINA.

Shanghai, July 31.—It is reported that Dr. Sun Yat Sen and General Huang Suan, who was minister of war in the provisional cabinet, have concluded negotiations for the establishment in Shanghai of a foreign and Chinese bank with a capital of $10,000,000. Their object is to checkmate the proposed foreign loan.

HARVESTERS FOR WEST.

C. P. R. Has Arranged Excursions From Maritime Provinces.

Montreal, July 31.—The Canadian Pacific railway yesterday announced the dates of the numerous harvester excursions which will carry to the west the fifty-eight thousand hands required to handle the crop this year. The excursions will start from the Maritime provinces on August 12. The second leaves on the 16th and will be for the benefit of the prospective harvesters in the province of Quebec and in eastern Ontario as far as Kingston and Renfrew. The third will leave August 20, and will be run from Toronto and west to Sarnia and south of there, while a fourth will start August 23 from the northwest Ontario district, between Toronto and Kingston and Sharbot Lake. The company has also arranged for additional excursions to be run from Toronto and all points east in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime provinces, August 29, and from Toronto and all points west August 30.

RELIEF FOR REGINA.

Deputation to Interview Minister Regarding Proposed Loan of $1,000,000.

Ottawa, July 31.—A Regina deputation consisting of Mayor McAra, Mr. A. E. Whitmore, and Dr. W. D. Cowan, has arranged for an interview with Hon. W. T. White, minister of finance, to discuss a proposed government loan of $1,000,000 to facilitate the rebuilding of that portion of the city destroyed by the cyclone on June 30. The members of the deputation have had an informal interview with Hon. George E. Perley, acting premier. They thanked him verbally for the aid extended to Regina by the federal government at the time of the disaster and suggested a government loan as a means of additional aid. He referred them to the minister of finance.

C.P.R. TOUCHES NEW HIGH RECORD

(Courtesy F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

New York, July 31.—There was quite an improved tone to the stock market to-day, influenced in the main by agreeable expectations of President Taft's speech of acceptance, something along the line of a constructive conservatism being rumored. Well defined reports were also out stating Wilson's attitude to be acceptable. It was these two factors that started the buying, and should they be verified efforts will not be wanting to force a sharp upturn from present levels.

The outstanding feature of to-day's trading was the strength in C. P. R. which sold at 271 1-2, the highest point that has yet been reached, and showing a gain of five points from last night's close. Soo Line followed the movement in sympathy.

C. P. R. EARNINGS.

Montreal, July 31.—Official figures for the fiscal year of the C. P. R. ended June 30 are now out, showing gross earnings of $123,319,541 and net earnings of $42,298,243. These figures compare as follows with last year: Earnings for 1912, $123,319,541; 1911, $104,167,894; increase, $19,151,570. Expenditures, 1912, $80,082,298; 1911, $67,467,977; increase, $12,553,321. Net profits, 1912, $42,298,242; 1911, $36,699,830; increase, $6,598,412. The heaviest monthly gross receipts were for April, May and June, when they exceeded $11,300,000, the only other month approaching these figures being October, 1911, when they ran as high as $11,200,000. The smallest monthly gross earnings were $7,328,781, in January.

In four months of the fiscal year the net earnings exceeded $4,000,000. These were August, October and December, 1911, and April this year.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

A Chicago dispatch says: Receipts calling for 594,889 bushels No. 2 hard, new, and 80,319 bushels No. 2 red winter wheat, have been cancelled so far this week.

Wiring from Devil's Lake, N. D., July 30, John Inglis says: Casselton, Devil's Lake, some good wheat almost ready to cut, but there is quite an acreage of stubbled which is poor. General average about 12 bushels. See no damage from rust.

Forecast for Western Canadian provinces are for fine weather to-day and Thursday.

Fifty-two loads of wheat all told were worked for export in Chicago.

One-sixth of the territorial surface of the globe is occupied by the Russian Empire.

Crop Experts Modify Reports on Rust — Corn and Oats Steady

(By Courtesy F. W. Stevenson & Co.)

Chicago, July 31.—Helped by a fairly strong cable, there was moderate recovery in wheat at the opening. The disposition was to sell and prices had a reaction of one cent during the morning. Selling of December was more aggressive than for the earlier month, several big houses unloading important lines bought on the upturn. A feature of the market of late has been a narrowing of the difference between September and December. New features for the trade to-day were not of any important character. Most of the crop authorities in the northwest were modifying their rust messages to-day. All conceded that there is still a possibility of a spread of black rust and damage to the late portion of the crop. Minneapolis quoted cash wheat strong, mills all buying and sales of flour increasing. Seaboard confirmed tonnage taken for 31 boatloads.

Corn and oats were both steady to fractionally weaker.

TO THE WORKINGMAN OF VICTORIA—To the man who has not yet bought a lot to build his home, we want you to feel when you are reading this advertisement that you are right in our office talking the matter over personally with us. We own Greendale, a fine subdivision of 55 lots, right on the new Saanich interurban line, which will be the first car line running out of the city. This subdivision lays adjoining the popular Panama Park and Garden City, and the car can be reached from any lot in the tract in from 2 to 4 minutes, sidewalks and graded streets run from this property directly to the car line. The soil in Greendale is a rich black loam, unsurpassed anywhere in the world, and one only has to look at the most luxuriant vegetable garden in the adjoining field to get an idea of the richness of this beautiful tract. Every lot in Greendale is cleared and as level as a floor, which affords a beautiful place to build and is easily reached by way of public roads leading in from Carey road and to the car line. We expect to sell the entire tract in one week, and although Greendale has been on the market but 4 or 5 days over half of the lots are sold or spoken for. We have no set price that you must pay cash to get one of these lots, nor do we have any set sum which you must pay us each month, but we realize that there are lots of people in Victoria who have but little money, people who would like very much to buy a good big lot cheap and can pay only a small sum down and a little each month, and at the same time get a lot where transportation to and from the city could be easily reached; these are the people we wish to show Greendale. If you only have 30, 40 or 50 dollars to pay cash, and can only pay 10 to 15 dollars a month, come in and see us. We have no building restrictions, you can build anything you want to. The lots run in size from 50 to 52 feet in width and as deep as 250 to 280 feet, and none are less than 120 feet, excepting one or two pointed corners. The prices are from $290 up to $400, the most of them running about $375 apiece. We will take you out and show you this property, and if you don't think it is the best and cheapest property ever put on the market in Victoria you are under no obligation to buy whatever, and we will feel as kindly disposed toward you as if you had bought. The Morning Colonist of July 16th shows a large photo on page 2 of several cars containing 60,000 pounds of rails and spikes leaving for the scene of activity on the new line, and as the only remaining piece of grading yet to be done from Harriett down the Burnside is about completed, it is now only a matter of a very short time until cars will be running right by this property (Greendale). We wish also to add that lots on every side and much farther out are selling for more money, and after Greendale is gone we ask where will you find such lots, at such prices, and at such terms? We say nowhere. Let us take you out and show you this property. Go out to-night. We leave our office every evening for the property at 7 o'clock. It is much cooler at this time, and we will be glad to take you out any evening. Victoria Subdivision Co., 207 Pemberton Bldg. Phone 504. jy31

STRIKE SITUATION AT PORT ARTHUR

Three Coal Laden Steamers Lying Idle — Militiamen Preserve Order

Port Arthur, Ont., July 3.—Although the Canadian Northern Coal Ore Docks Company announced that its plant would open this morning for those men who cared to return to work under the protection of the militia, there were not enough laborers on hand to warrant the commencement of operations and three coal laden steamers are lying idle there. The strike against the company seems so far to be very effective, despite the expectation that violence as resorted to Monday night would react against the strikers. Since the militiamen turned out there has been no sign of personal conflict and all is quiet about the coal docks section.

GOODWOOD RACES.

London, July 31.—The Goodwood plate, a long distance handicap of £825, two miles and three furlongs, was won to-day by Irish Marine, 4 to 1. Winthorpe, 5 to 1, was second, and Warlingham, 5 to 1, third.

The Sussex stakes £625, one mile, for three year olds, was won by August Belmont's Tracery, 2 to 1 on. H. B. Duryea's Sweeper II., 5 to 2, was second, and Col. Lambton's Apprentice, 100 to 8, third.

TEST MATCH ABANDONED.

London, July 31.—The sixth test match of the triangular series, that between England and Australia, was abandoned owing to rain. Both countries have beaten South Africa twice and have drawn their own two games. Three tests yet remain to be played.

DURNAN-HACKETT RACE.

Rainy River, Ont., July 31.—The Durnan-Hackett race has been fixed for 5 o'clock, although Hackett is demanding that it be further postponed until 6.30. Referee Robertson has decided that unless Hackett is at the starting buoy at 5 o'clock he will send Durnan over the course and award him the race. The weather is threatening, with a strong wind blowing. There is prospect of rain and there have been several light showers this morning. It is likely that the course opposite Rainy River will be used, as the Beaudette portion of the river is very rough at present.

WEILER BROTHERS' BUSINESS IS SOLD

TO BE HOUSED IN A TEN-STORY BUILDING

An Eastern Syndicate Has Acquired Old Established Concern

The business of Weller Brothers, furniture dealers, Government street, changed hands yesterday afternoon, when papers were signed by the interested parties transferring the business for the consideration of about $500,000. The new owners are a company to be at once incorporated as Weller Brothers, Limited, with E. A. Waterman as managing director, and the remainder of the shareholders being eastern Canadian capitalists. A. C. Flumerfelt is an interested party in the new company.

The new company will proceed to erect a ten-storey building in which to carry on the business, negotiations for the purchase of a site for the new store being about completed, according to the statement of Mr. Waterman today. Buyers from Weller Brothers, Limited, are going to eastern Canada, New York and Europe in a few weeks on a trip to purchase materials for delivery for the new building.

"We intend to make Weller Brothers, Limited, the show place of the northwest," said Mr. Waterman. "We are going to have the biggest establishment of its kind on the coast and we will install all modern machinery, stock, apparatus, an interior decorating department, and every modern improvement in the new building that is known to the furniture trade to-day."

Mr. Waterman has been ten years in the furniture business in the east and has connections with all the leading houses there and in New York. He came to Victoria about one year ago as manager for Weller brothers and at the end of his engagement went east for the purpose of interesting the members of the new company that has now taken over the business in the concern.

The business which has changed hands is one of the oldest in the city. It was established in 1862 by John Weller, a sturdy German pioneer, who came to America from Nassau, Germany, where he was born, in 1846. He went to California in the days of the gold excitement and engaged in mining and stock ranching. Upon removing to this city he embarked in the business with which his name has been so long associated and which became the largest of its kind in British Columbia. Upon the death of Mr. Weller, the conduct of the business fell into the capable hands of his four sons. At first the business was carried on at the corner of Broad and Fort streets, and part of the premises on Broad street are still retained by the firm for warehouse purposes, although Weller Brothers' store has for some years been located in their splendid building, one of the best business blocks of its kind in the province, at the corner of Government and Broughton streets. For many years the company have maintained a furniture factory at the junction of Humboldt and Douglas streets in conection with their business. Two of the sons, George and Joseph, died a few years ago.

SITTING OF HOUSE MAY BE DELAYED

NOT LIKELY TO MEET UNTIL EARLY IN JANUARY

Much Departmental Business Awaits Arrival of Ministers

Ottawa, July 31.—An idea prevails here that parliament will not meet for the transaction of business until early in January. At the last full sitting of the cabinet council, held before the departure of Premier Borden and his colleagues for England, the matter was discussed and the desirability of not meeting until January was mentioned by more than one minister. No decision was arrived at, however. Much will depend on the progress made with the preparation of sessional business after the return of the ministers. As there will be a considerable accumulation of department business to be attended to and the naval question will occupy some time, the government may find that it will be in the best interests of the public to have the opening of parliament deferred until January.

GORDON M. GRANT TO ENTER APPEAL

Interesting Technicality Will Be Raised Before the Court of Appeal

Vancouver, July 31.—It is understood that Gordon M. Grant, the Vancouver barrister who was recently disbarred and stricken from the rolls by the B. C. Benchers for alleged unprofessional conduct in the conduct of a damage action for Miss Carrie Pagan, intends to appeal to the court of appeal against his disbarment. His appeal will be based on an interesting technicality. Under the statute conferring powers of disbarment upon the benchers, it is ordered that action can only be taken when a certain percentage of those benchers who hear the charges consent to the decree of disbarment after hearing the evidence against the person charged.

In the hearing of the charges against Mr. Grant, which took place at Victoria, it is alleged that before the last witness had concluded his testimony and the vote of the benchers was taken, that some of the Vancouver benchers, fearing to lose the boat, rose and left the meeting. It is claimed by Mr. Grant's friends that as the Vancouver benchers heard the charge, that they must be counted as if present when the vote was taken, and that if they are reckoned as being present, then the vote had not the required percentage to carry.

This interesting point will be argued before the court of appeal at its next sitting in Vancouver.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

London, July 31.—British papers have not commented editorially on the marriage judgment, although several have articles explaining the effect of the judgment. One correspondent advises girls marrying men domiciled in Quebec and not proposing to comply with the Quebec requirements, to have the ceremony performed in a neighboring province. Another correspondent hopes that the next imperial conference will place marriage and divorce within the empire on a satisfactory footing.

QUEBEC MINISTER MARRIED.

Montreal, July 31.—Hon. P. S. C. McKenzie, provincial treasurer of Quebec, was married this morning to Miss Catherine Penfold, daughter of the late Jeffrey Penfold, of Montreal, formerly manager of the Bank of British North America. The honeymoon will be spent in Europe. Sir Lorimer Gouin will have charge of the treasurer's portfolio during his absence.

Died at Kamloops.—The death took place yesterday morning at Kamloops of J. McCurrach, for some years a tailor in this city. Mr. McCurrach had been ailing for years, but his death came with unexpected suddeness. He was connected by marriage with W. Baines, of this city, who left last night to attend the funeral, which will take place in Vernon. The deceased was a native of Scotland, and was 43 years of age. After conducting a tailoring business on Broad street for some 15 years, he took a trip to France four years ago in the hope of regaining his health, which was very poor. Returning in six months time he started in business again in Eburne, but later, owing to a turn for the worse in his health, was compelled to remove to Vernon, where he settled down on a small fruit ranch. Just recently he was ordered to Kamloops by his doctor. His widow, who, with three children, survives him, was formerly Miss McKinnon, of Vancouver. The late Mr. McCurrach was well known and highly esteemed here.

CONDEMNATION CASES TO COME UP FRIDAY

Buildings To Be Closed By City Authorities Are Mostly Stables

On Friday afternoon the city council will meet the owners of property scheduled for condemnation and hear their explanation before making the customary orders. This is the second list prepared this year, and the usual procedure has to be followed in connection with them. The buildings are mostly stables. Of those already condemned some are no longer in existence, others are being pulled down, and in one or two cases injunctions were secured in the courts against closing orders.

The particular significance of the stables set down for condemnation arises from the Public Health Amendment By-Law, which stands in the name of the chairman of the health committee, but in view of the fact that Alderman Beard is away from the city for a few days, the by-law has not been taken up. The clauses of this measure, in so far as they relate to stables, are comprehensive. They require the building to be located away from dwelling houses, and properly drained; for window accommodation of an adequate area; removal of manure, and similar improvements, which will cause considerable changes in the smaller stables, although on the other hand there are some of the modern ones which fully comply with the requirements the by-law will enact.

If the condemnation proceedings take as long on Friday as the last batch did, it is not improbable that an adjournment may be necessary to complete taking evidence, before making the usual orders.

The rules at the present time are so stringent that the construction of stables for more than two animals has to be considered by the city council direct, and at the present time there is an application from Rebecca street before the council, upon which the residents of the block affected are to be consulted before action is taken either way by the council.

TOURISTS HELPING TO FILL HOTELS

TRAVEL CONTINUOUS TO FARTHEST WEST

Probably More Than Fifteen Hundred Arrivals Here Daily

With the summer season at its height and the advertising of the Development League and other mediums broadcast, Victoria's attractions as a tourist centre are being daily proved to large numbers of people who pass through the city, viewing its environs prior to leaving. In this connection there were yesterday on the arrival of the Vancouver boat over a score waiting in turn for rooms at the Empress. Nor was the Empress the only hotel that has a waiting list in its lobby, even with the increased hotel accommodation of the city by reason of the recent construction of a number of new and palatial structures, there was hardly an empty room in any Victoria hotel.

Automobile parties and tallyho excursionists crowded the lobbies of the city hotels yesterday, speculating with care free anticipation on the beauties they were to witness during the day. Parties examining guides to the city, questioning bell boys and porters, were known to be tourists as plainly as if they wore a red and yellow label to that effect, and mingled with the piles of baggage were the coats and the caps that never appear unless brought along by a tourist.

Tennis players, commercial men, investors, members of the railway commission, railway officials rubbed elbows with the tourist in the lobby of the Empress yesterday. Railway officials are easily distinguishable by the close observer, especially officers of the big system of which the palatial hotel is a part. There is the indefinable atmosphere of authority about them which comes from long service and gradual climbing up the rungs of the ladder. Then, of course, they are always busy, which is another distinguishable indication. Tourists can be spotted at once. Their care-free manner suggests that it is their day out.

Most assuredly the town is full, the Empress is feeling the need of the additional wing now building. The Dominion and the King Edward would like new wings as near completion as the one on the hotel at the causeway, and all are preparing "standing room only" signs with which to save the vocal cords of their patient clerks from the repetition of "no room yet."

Moreover it finds the tourist business very profitable. Probably more than fifteen hundred people arrive here daily and they all in varying degrees contribute to the business of the city. This is the mercenary aspect of the situation, perhaps, but the development of the tourist traffic is not so much a humanitarian as a commercial movement.

Boy Scouts in the British Empire total 600,000.

PASSING SHOW

Majestic Theatre.

The British Royal Naval and Military Tournament, Olympia, England, 1912, will be shown at the Majestic theatre to-day and Thursday. Nobody should fail to see this splendid feature, which includes Native Tent Pegging, Army Service Corps Competition, Dismounting and Remounting a Service Wagon in Record Time; Unpacking and Mounting in one minute and twenty seconds, a picturesque Musical Double Ride by the Royal Horse Guards, Naval Field Gun Competition, Bringing a Gun and Carriage weighing one ton three hundredweight over a bank and five-foot wall in two minutes two seconds, a Daring Display Musical drive by Royal Horse Artillery, a Unique Vaulting Display by the 116th Battery, R. F. A.; Riding and Jumping Competition, Physical Training Display by Seamen and Marines from the Physical Training School, Portsmouth. Other features are: "Female of the Species," a picture giving a remarkable psychological study; "The Price of Art," the dramatic story of an artist and her Catalina model; "The Parachute Maker," a pleasing drama; "A La Francais," a very amusing comedy; and "Betty is Worse Than Ever," a ludicrous comedy.

The Allen Players.

Very enthusiastic acknowledgments were given Miss Verna Felton and the other members of the Allen Players' company at the Victoria theatre last night for their successful staging of "The Man From Mexico," which caused more laughter than it did the night before, because there were more people there. "The Man From Mexico" is the farce in which Willie Collier "raised the wind" enormously, and is being produced here on quite a high standard.

Pretty stage settings in two of the acts, and a useful setting for the jail warden's office, the bright Mexican raiment of the third act, and the gaiety that goes right through the show, combine for a hearty laugh at Mr. Fitzhugh and his family affairs. "The Man From Mexico" will be repeated every night during the week, and at the Saturday afternoon matinee.

SECRET DIES WITH HIM.

The well-known Paris lawyer, Georges Laguerre, who was buried in the Montmartre cemetery, carried to his grave one of the most mysterious and sensational secrets which the Paris police have in vain tried to solve.

Just twenty-nine years ago a wealthy gentleman named M. Ducros de Sixt lived with his sister in the Rue du Regard, Paris; there they were murdered by a man who was evidently disguised as a tramp, for when he had been arrested and brought before an examining magistrate it was seen from his manner, his language and his neatly-kept hands that he was a man of gentle breeding. He declined to tell anything about himself or why he had committed the double murder, except to his counsel, Georges Laguerre, who ever since respected the confidence.

The police, however, ascertained that the prisoner had been a great traveller, spoke several languages, knew intimately the literatures of several countries, and was endowed with exceptional physical strength. It was M. Quesnay de Beaurepaire, then public prosecutor, who directed the case against the unknown, and he exclaimed on closing his address to the jury: "Prisoner, you want me to conceal your identity; but I know your name, the name of the man whom the jury are about to sentence to death. You are——," he paused, and then quickly recovering himself, adding briefly, "the murderer of the Rue de Regard."

The unknown was condemned to death and guillotined, and for months the papers had stories of his possible identity. One was that he was a brother of Gen. Boulanger, who later, in 1888, attempted to become dictator of France. Periodical attempts have also been made, even in this year, to induce Maitre Laguerre to reveal the great secret, but he would reply with a tantalizing smile: "If I were to mention the name it would astonish you considerably." And so he kept the secret to the last.

Under English law a man may not be twice charged for the same offence; but if he is so charged may plead "autrefois acquit," or "autrefois convict," i. e., that he has already been acquitted or convicted on the same charge.

OUR LETTER BOX

CLEAN CARS.

To the Editor: Might I suggest to the B. C. Electric Railway Company to purchase a few up-to-date vacuum cleaners for the special purpose of cleaning the cars effectually and making them more fit for the travelling public? It is impossible with the use of the broom to remove the dirt from behind the seats and on the corrugated floor. As the B. C. Electric Company have the power on the spot and it is in their interest to spread the use of electric cleaners, shall be pleased to see them act promptly in the matter.

CARGO.

"MIXED" BATHING.

To the Editor,—While sitting on one of the benches yesterday afternoon—a bench near the wee stretch of beach between the boathouse and the bathing house—in the Gorge Park, two young men calmly walked along in wet bathing suits (tights is another word more expressive, but not quite so delicate as the former) and stopped to talk to some young women a few feet away from me.

In my opinion the appearance of these young men was offensive, especially as they stayed some time smoking cigarettes, yet I know that this is a free country and that every sane person has a right to his own ideas.

No doubt their intentions were harmless, and perhaps they would have been amazed had they been told that they had caused embarrassment to, at least, one spectator.

I know that in many parts of the world "mixed bathing" is indulged in, but is it necessary for young men to promenade afterwards or to bask in the sunshine in their almost nude condition, when there are several members of the fair sex about?

I think it would be more acceptable to the public in general if young men kept to their own side of the Gorge beach, or else get decent bathing suits!

"A PEACEFUL CITIZEN."

CONSUMPTION OF EGGS.

Some startling figures were recently published by the New York State Food Investigation Committee. It appears that each year New York consumes between 1,296,000,000 and 1,440,000,000 eggs, and that before now there have been put away in the cold storage warehouses of the city no fewer than 319,800,000 eggs.

Each week the inhabitants of that city eat over 1,350,000 pounds of butter, and in the course of the year manage to make away with 72,000,000 pounds. Last year the market for cheese was considered to be unusually poor, but in spite of that fact the amount consumed in the city was 30,000,000.

Polo is probably the oldest of athletic sports. It has been traced to 600 B. C.
